"Fruitful" Big 3 Parley Ends

Blocking Reds In Asia Is U. S. Job, Ike Says

United Front Must Be Kept With Allies, President Declares

WASHINGTON, July 14 (AP) — President Eisenhower today asserted a direct American responsibility for blocking communism in Southeast Asia. He tied this to the necessity of keeping Japan out of Communist control.

Eisenhower spoke out at a news conference about the time that Secretary of States Dulles was agreeing at Paris to restore high level American representation at the Geneva conference. He responded to urgent pleas from British Foreign Secretary Eden and French Premier Mendes-France.

Eisenhower said the United States has a great concern to keep a united front on fundamental principles with its chief allies, Britain and France.

Rhee To Visit Ike July 26

Thus the Eisenhower administration appeared to be striving to rebuild the cooperation of the Western powers into some of its old effectiveness. It was also seeking to strengthen other sectors of the free world front against the Communist bloc. These developments fitted into the picture:

1. Eisenhower announced that South Korean President Syngman Rhee will visit him July 26 for a discussion of Korea's future in view of the failure of the Geneva conference of United Nations and Red governments to agree on Korean unification.

2. Congress was asked in a letter from Secretary of State Dulles, dated Monday, the day he flew to Paris, to approve splitting apart the issues of West German independence and West German rearmament so that sovereignty may be granted even if France fails to approve the European Defense Community this summer. The letter constituted a move to confront France with one of the consequences of a failure to act on EDC.

President, Dulles To Confer

3. Eisenhower said that he will confer with Dulles immediately after the secretary returns here, and the State Department announced he is due to arrive tomorrow.

4. The White House, following up the President's news conference, announced that Undersecretary of State Walter Bedell Smith will fly to Geneva late Friday to join Eden and Mendes-France on the Western side of the table across which they are negotiating with Russia's Molotov and Red China's Chou En-lai for peace in Indochina.

Czechs May Free Americans Soon

WASHINGTON, July 14 (AP)—The State Department said today there is reason to hope that seven American soldiers seized July 4 by Czech border guards will be released "in the near future."

Department Press Officer Henry Suydam told a news conference that, as far as he knows, the Czech government has not withdrawn its charge that the seven soldiers were acting as spies.

Suydam declined to say what reason there was for hoping for the release of the men. As usual, he said, it was best not to go "too far" in public statements until the men actually are freed.

By the "near future," he said he meant "in the narrowest sense."

"Latest reports on discussions between the U.S. Embassy at Prague and the Czech Foreign Office give reason to hope that these men will be turned over to U.S. military representatives in Germany in the near future," Suydam said.

Ala. Youths Admit Burning "Yankee"

MONTGOMERY, Ala., July 14 (AP)—City detectives said today that four youths have admitted burning a Gunter AFB airman with cigarettes in one of a series of recent attacks on "Yankee" personnel at nearby military installations.

Detective Jack Shows said the boys, all 17 or 18, admitted holding and burning Airman Glenn E. Hunter, Harbor Beach, Mich. following an argument on segregation.

Meanwhile, city police and Air Force authorities were cooperating in the search for what is believed to be three gangs of teenage civilians who have attacked Northern military personnel stationed near Montgomery.

Ike Refuses To Accept Defeat Of Health Plan

Eisenhower Raps House, Then Asks Again For Program

BACK TO GENEVA — Undersecretary of State Walter Bedell Smith (above) will fly to Geneva tomorrow to rejoin the Western side of the table in the Indochina peace conference.

WASHINGTON, July 14 (AP) — President Eisenhower refused today to acknowledge final defeat of his health reinsurance plan in Congress, and argued also for prompt action on his tax and farm programs as measures that will benefit the whole country.

With considerable heat, Eisenhower told his news conference that those House members who voted 238-134 yesterday to ditch the plan he has advanced for expanding medical care through private insurance "just don't understand what are the facts of American life."

"I don't consider that anyone lost yesterday," he said, "except the American people."

Less than two hours later, the President asked Congress all over again for the same plan.

Ike Asks $25 Million

Eisenhower's new approach was to ask Congress for 25 million dollars to start his program. The request was part of a supplemental appropriation bill for the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. However, the appropriation could not take effect without separate legislation authorizing the program.

Under the President's plan, the government would underwrite up to 75 per cent of the losses suffered by private and nonprofit insurance firms as a result of voluntary expansion of their health and medical programs.

Rep. Halleck (R-Ind), the House Republican leader, told reporters he thought the adverse vote yesterday came from "Democrats who don't think it goes far enough and some Republicans who think it goes too far." Halleck also said the American Medical Assn. and some insurance firms brought pressure against it.

Plug For Tax Measure

Eisenhower volunteered his remarks about the general tax revision bill, now in a Senate-House conference:

"This tax bill will help millions of Americans by better tax treatment, and here are a few of them: for child care, retired people and their widows, parents of children who work part-time, people with sick and accident insurance, people with medical bills, farmers doing soil and water conservation, taxpayers with non - relative dependents and many others.

"Then there are provisions for more flexible depreciation and better tax treatment of research expenses. These will help all business to modernize and expand, and be especially helpful to small business.

"Most important, those provisions, by helping the economy expand, make more and better jobs."

Governors Told Ike's Program Spurs Economy

BOLTON LANDING, N.Y., July 14 (AP)—President Eisenhower's economic adviser said today the administration's legislative program is putting punch into an economy that should surge upward in five years to production of 450 billion dollars in goods and services.

Gabriel Hauge rubbed the economic crystal ball for the nation's governors, in the windup stages of their annual conference, and brought out what he said was a confident, optimistic picture for the future.

Kennon New Chairman

But as Hauge saw it, America is past the retreat or recession that set in a year ago, reorganizing, "catching its breath for a new advance."

"The gross national product, he said, "should in five years get to 440 to 450 billion dollars."

It now is around a level of 367 billions a year.

The 46th governors' conference ended with a closed door session that elected Gov. Robert F. Kennon of Louisiana chairman for the year ahead and set the stage for a possible conference in Washington on President Eisenhower's vast highway construction program.

This plan calls for a federal-state alliance to construct an additional 50 billion dollars worth of roads in the next 10 years in addition to some 40 billions of construction that normally might be scheduled in that period.

Double-Barreled Resolution

It has been a source of concern and confusion at this conference. And the way the state executives disposed of it was to adopt a double-barreled resolution.

It calls on the council of state governments and state road experts to make a study and report on highway problems.

It calls on the governors' Executive Committee to "be prepared to call together all the governors to meet with appropriate federal officials to discuss this subject if such action is found to be necessary and desirable."

Republic Income Up

CLEVELAND, July 14 (AP)—Republic Steel Corp. today reported its second quarter net income of $13,712,933 was up $2,633,921 from the first quarter and ingot production increased a half per cent to 69.9 per cent of capacity.

Godfrey Staffer Fired By TV Star For "Drunkenness"

NEW YORK, July 14 (AP)—Arthur Godfrey announced on his television show today that he has fired a member of his staff for drinking.

He didn't say who got the gate. At CBS there was speculation it was a writer rather than a performer.

Godfrey commented on his show:

"I fired a man yesterday that I told the last time—which was the seventh time—that I wouldn't take it again. Seven times I took it and I said, 'Once more and that's the end.'

"That's the one thing I'll not tolerate on this program is drunkenness on the job."

32 Listed Dead As Record Heat Grips Much Of Nation

[By The Associated Press]

New record heat brought death, drought and destruction to large sections of the nation Wednesday.

However, a cool front out of the Rockies was tailing the heat across the West and brought hope to states which listed 32 deaths attributed to the heat.

Oklahoma recorded 11 heat deaths, Missouri 7, Colorado 4 (all drownings), Illinois 3, Kentucky 2, and Iowa, Louisiana, Nebraska, Kansas, and Pennsylvania 1 each. The drownings were mostly deaths of persons seeking relief from the extreme heat.

Temperatures into the 100s stretched across the country from Iowa to the Atlantic Coast and in the 90s across the northern tier of states to the East Coast as far north as Boston.

Reports of drying water wells and reservoirs came from Kansas and in between areas east to New York where the Rochester area was in its 41st drought-ridden day.

Jacksonville, Ill., recorded 113.5 degrees by early afternoon, a new record for the city.

St. Louis hit a new heat record of 112.3, breaking a mark of 110.2 set on July 24, 1934. Three deaths Wednesday and one Tuesday were attributed to the heat.

Columbus, Ohio, had 104.4; Cincinnati 101; Kansas City 110; Quincy Ill., Emporia, Kan., and Ponca City, Okla., 111. Springfield, Ill., had its hottest day ever, 113.8. Decatur had a record breaking 113, and Fulton and Mexico, Mo., had a record 115, while Hannibal, Mo., a top of 114.

Atlee Draws Churchill Fire In China Row

Labor Party Leader Attacks American Views On U. N. Entry

LONDON, July 14 (AP) — Prime Minister Churchill and Clement Attlee clashed over Red China today, with Attlee attacking American views and Churchill defending them.

The debate in the House of Commons was sometimes bitter. Churchill chided the Labor party opposition, headed by Attlee, as aggravating foreign policy differences with Washington.

Attlee, Churchill's predecessor as Prime Minister, spoke quietly but often cuttingly in criticism of American opposition to admitting Red China to the United Nations. He called this attitude "wrong, unwise and contrary to the principles of the United Nations."

"Whine Of Criticism"

Churchill's answer to a hostile, at times heckling opposition was to label Attlee's remarks as "one long whine of criticism against the United States."

This brought a shout of "scandalous" from a Laborite. Churchill carried on with this observation of Attlee's speech:

"I know he does not wish to harm our relations with the United States, but I can assure Mr. Attlee his speech will undoubtedly make a bad impression and make more difficult a settlement of many awkward questions which we have to deal with in common with the United States."

Churchill defended his Monday statement that this is not the moment to call for Red China's admittance into the United Nations.

China At War With U.N.

"I am sure that if at the present time an agitation was set on foot to bring Communist China into the United Nations the American feeling would be that they were succeeding in shooting their way in," Churchill said.

Attlee rose to say he had never suggested it should be done "at this very moment" but that many in America say they will never have China in.

"In principle one cannot conceive that China would be forever excluded from the United Nations," Churchill said. But he added China is technically at war with the U.N. and "at this moment is going to achieve a resounding triumph by the successes of the stimulated war in Indochina in which it has played so great a part."

Senator Moves To Prevent AEC Power Contract

WASHINGTON, July 14 (AP)—Sen. Anderson (D-NM) tonight introduced legislation to prevent the Atomic Energy Commission from negotiating a private utility contract for power to be delivered to the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Anderson offered his plan as an amendment to a bill revising the Atomic Energy law. It was introduced after an hours-long speech during which he criticized the proposed power contract which President Eisenhower has directed the AEC to negotiate with a private utility firm. Three members of the commission had opposed the plan.

Sen. Gore (D-Tenn) suggested earlier that the law be revised to make sure the AEC "cannot be overruled by a telephone call from the White House."

Under the President's plan, the AEC would contract for 600,000 kilowatts of private power to be delivered to the TVA at Memphis, Tenn., in return for TVA power the AEC receives at its Paducah, Ky., plant.

Anderson's amendment would limit the AEC's authority to sign power contracts to those for power to be delivered directly to atomic plants.

It also would limit any cancellation costs to the actual loss suffered by the private utility group and would require the AEC to submit any power contract to the Joint Atomic Energy Committee before it is signed.

Anderson told the Senate he was not asking for contract veto power for the joint committee, but insisted that group should have the right to look over any contract at least 30 days before it would become effective.

Tiny Sex Attack Victim, Suspect

Knowland Says He'll Fight Move To Oust M'Carthy

WASHINGTON, July 14 (AP)—The Senate's Republican leader, Sen. Knowland of California, announced today he will fight an attempt to oust Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) from his powerful committee chairmanships.

Knowland spoke out in the Senate after Sen. Flanders (R-Vt), who has been stalking McCarthy for several months, reported he thinks he has "an excellent chance"—and an improving one—to unseat the junior senator from Wisconsin.

Newsmen told Knowland later that they interpreted his remarks in the Senate as meaning that, regardless of how he does it, he will actively oppose Flanders on the McCarthy issue.

Mistake, Knowland Says

"That is correct," the majority leader replied. He has contended all along that Flanders is making a mistake and that his move could open a "Pandora's box" of trouble.

Flanders had called a news conference earlier to announce that while he hasn't actually counted noses he seems to be "in an encouraging atmosphere" when he discusses his ouster resolution with GOP colleagues.

"I seem to be encountering support," was how the 76-year-old Vermonter put it.

Shortly afterward Flanders told the Senate the reason he is trying to unseat McCarthy from his chairmanships is "to put an end to the destructive forces in the power and influence" of the Wisconsin Republican.

Knowland Scolds Colleague

Knowland heard him through and then arose to scold Flanders for having disclosed what had been said between the two senators at a private meeting of the Senate Republican Policy Committee yesterday.

Flanders had told reporters that he had obtained from members of the committee a pledge they would allow "a straight vote" on the McCarthy issue without invoking any parliamentary tricks to avoid a showdown.

Knowland confirmed that he had promised he would not use any "artificial means" to block the Vermonter.

Senate Group To Quiz Top Pentagon Officials

WASHINGTON, July 14 (AP) — Chairman Saltonstall (R-Mass) announced today the Senate Armed Services Committee has called Secretary of Defense Wilson and other Pentagon officials to a public hearing tomorrow for questioning about the handling of loyalty-security matters in the armed forces.

In reply to questions from reporters, Saltonstall said "Matters brought out during the McCarthy-Army hearings" were a factor in the decision to have these hearings.

Arms Plot Discovered

MEXICO CITY, July 14 (AP)—Secret Service sources said today they have uncovered a plot to smuggle a million dollars worth of guns, ammunition and grenades to Nicaragua. They gave no details of the plot and said no arrests have yet been made.

Secret RAF Jet Bomber Crashes During Test Flight

CRANFIELD, England, July 14 (AP)—A secret four-engine British jet atom bomber crashed in the airfield of an aeronautical college today, killing the crew of four. It was rated as having the power of 25 express locomotives.

Eyewitnesses said the tail dropped off the plane during a trial flight.

The crescent-winged Victor, a prototype of planes now on superpriority production orders for the Royal Air Force, could fly near the speed of sound. It was 10 times as powerful as the heaviest World War II bomber.

Starving Twins Free Under Bail

LOS ANGELES, July 14 (AP)—The U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals today freed the starving Finn twins under $1,000 bail each.

The opinion was a 2-1 decision. Presiding Judge Albert Lee Stephens said that the case "presents a substantial question for review."

Judge James Alger Fee dissented, saying he believes the Finns should be denied bail because they have shown "a great disposition to take the law into their own hands."

The 41-year-old former Air Force fliers were in the 23rd day of a fast which they started to protest the "injustice" of their one-year jail sentence for interfering with a government officer and the government's seizure of their war surplus transport plane.

Charles, who weighed 138 at the start, and George, who weighed 135, now weigh 112 and 111.

They were expected to be freed from the California Medical Facility at Terminal Island later today.

They were then to be taken to a hospital. Authorities said they have grown steadily weaker as their fast progressed, but are not in serious condition. Their first meal will likely be only orange juice.

Anti-Red's Killer Jailed

NAPLES, July 14 (AP)—Giovanni Verola, 52, was sentenced today to 24 years in prison for stabbing his nephew to death with a pair of scissors because he opposed communism.

All Single Heads Of Families Won't Receive Tax Cut

WASHINGTON, July 14 (AP)—A Senate-House Conference Committee agreed today on a limited tax cut for widows and widowers. But the committee ruled out a much bigger reduction approved by the House for all single heads of households.

This was the first major decision as five Senate seniors and five senior House members set out to settle hundreds of differences between the two houses over President Eisenhower's big tax revision program.

Hottest Issues Hang Fire

The tax writers postponed action for the time being on the hottest issues still at stake—how much to cut taxes on income received as stockholders' dividends.

The committee decided that for two years after the death of a wife or husband, the widow or widower would be able to continue to split income for tax purposes just as married couples do. That often puts the taxpayer in a lower bracket.

Experts figured the saving would amount to about six or seven million dollars a year.

The House bill would have given all single heads of families—widowed or divorced persons or single persons supporting dependents—the full permanent benefits allowed from income splitting.

Senate Eliminated Provision

This would have been a saving of about 50 millions a year for about 800,000 single heads of households.

The Senate had eliminated this provision entirely from the tax revision program, on grounds that most of the benefits would go to wealthy persons.

Under the conference agreement, except for new widows or widowers, single heads of households would continue in the same tax status as under present law. They now get one-half the benefits of income splitting.

Slide Death Toll Rises

MEDELLIN, Colombia, July 14 (AP)—Twenty more bodies were recovered today as rescue workers cleared away tons of earth and rock which cascaded down from an Andes mountain peak Monday, engulfing two buses. The death toll is expected to exceed 100.

Husky House Guest Held For Kidnap, Rape Of Baby

SEMINOLE, Tex., July 14 (AP)—Officers accused a husky house guest today of stealing a five-month-old baby and raping her before her father caught up and took her back.

The 6-foot- 2-inch, 195-pound man was arrested near his car, jailed here and charged with rape.

The child is Jackie Jo Davis, daughter of a former GI and his Japanese wife, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Davis. They live in a two-room cabin just across the Texas state line from Hobbs, N.M., where Davis is a bartender in the Club Morrice.

Officers said Bill Hughes, 34, of Seminole took Jackie Jo while both parents were at the bar.

A reporter for the Hobbs Sun-News said "ominous little groups of men" gathered around the jail here. However, Deputy Sheriff V. A. Harris said he hadn't seen anybody who fitted that description.

"As far as a mob, I don't think we're going to have any trouble like that," Harris said.

"We're keeping our eyes open," he said. "There's hardly anybody around the jail this afternoon. There were quite a few earlier in the day, asking questions about what happened, but they've mostly drifted away."

Dist. Atty. Karl Cayton said Hughes hadn't "exactly denied raping the little girl—his pretense is that he doesn't know what we're talking about."

A Seminole physician said Jackie Jo, a tiny brunette, was in good condition.

Smith To Join Geneva Talks On Indochina

Mendes-France Sees Conference Leading To Policy Agreement

PARIS, July 14 (AP)—The United States, Britain and France ended a two-day conference today hopeful the three big Western Allies were headed toward a unanimous policy on Indochina.

Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and French Premier Pierre Mendes-France failed to persuade U. S. Secretary of State Dulles to return to the Geneva conference with the Communists on an Indochina cease fire. But the United States agreed to send back to the conference table Gen. Walter Bedell Smith, undersecretary of state.

Dulles, Eden and Mendes-France spent seven hours in conference last night and today, and Dulles had two transatlantic telephone conversations with President Eisenhower before the assignment of Smith to Geneva was announced.

Mendes-France Pleased

Mendes-France, who has staked the life of his government on achieving an "honorable" armistice in Indochina by next Tuesday, expressed himself as pleased with the talks.

"The talks were fruitful and will certainly lead to an agreement," he told reporters before taking off for Geneva.

The French Premier laid heavy emphasis on the work of Eden in the two-day conference, saying the British statesman played a "cordial and effective role."

Mendes-France and Eden appear to be agreed the only way to achieve a truce in the eight-year-old Indochina War is to divide Viet Nam, one of the three Associated States of Indochina. This would mean consenting to Communist domination of the vastly important areas of the north, possibly including Hanoi, the northern capital, and Haiphong, which has served as the seaport funneling in American war supplies to support the French in the war with the Communist-led Vietminh.

U.S. Limited In Negotiations

Up to now, it has been American policy to have as little to do with a partition settlement as possible. However, Dulles explained to his French and British colleagues the United States felt itself limited in the Indochina negotiations in Geneva because the Americans do not have "a primary responsibility in the Indochina War.

Mendes-France had pleaded for top-level United States participation once again in the Geneva conference—to which the Russians again have assigned Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov—as a means of bolstering French fortunes in the talks. Dulles refused to return personally, but Mendes-France indicated he was satisfied with the assignment of Smith.

Dulles took off for Washington in a Military Air Transport Service Constellation from Orly Field tonight. Both Eden and Mendes-France left for the Geneva talks.

French Troops Parade In Hanoi

HANOI, Indochina, July 14 (AP)—The French paraded their military strength in Hanoi today as the Communist-led Vietminh stepped up their pounding of the Red River Delta's northern defenses.

For an hour and a half, 10,000 French and Vietnamese troops, hundreds of tanks, and big guns moved slowly through the streets on Bastille Day before some 20,000 Vietnamese civilian spectators. The impressive heavy armament was American-supplied.

The French, in addition to celebrating their own equivalent of the American Fourth of July, apparently had two other motives:

1. To reassure the city's civilian population, swollen to 600,000 by an influx of refugees, that Hanoi still has substantial defenses in case cease fire negotiations with the rebels break down.

2. To serve as a warning to any extreme Vietnamese Nationalists that any internal revolt could be suppressed.

Nixon Too Busy To Gain Navy Reserve Promotion

WASHINGTON, July 14 (AP)—Richard Nixon is so busy being vice president that he can't keep up with his home work in the Naval reserves.

So, the Navy explained in answer to questions today, he was unable to qualify for promotion to the rank of commander during the fiscal year just ended.

Brownell Calls For Tightening Of "Conflict Of Interest" Law

Ban On Ex-Federal Employes Switching Sides Is Proposed

WASHINGTON, July 14 (AP)—Atty. Gen. Brownell proposed today that former federal employes be forever barred from "switching sides" to handle for private interests any matter with which they had been connected in government.

Present law imposes such a ban only for the first two years after the person leaves government service. A court ruled last year also that the ban applied only to money claims against the government.

Asking Congress to broaden and strengthen the law, Brownell said at present "there is no legal sanction preventing a governmental employe from utilizing the governmental powers inherent in his official position as a means of entry into a situation for his own personal advantage after resignation."

He made the request in letters to Vice President Nixon and House Speaker Martin (R-Mass).

The proposed ban would apply to business representatives as well as to lawyers, and to temporary as well as regular government employes. Present provisions under which exceptions can be made in individual cases would be eliminated. Such exceptions have been made in some cases for "dollar-a-year men" or other specialists.

But Brownell said that with a clarification of the law, "a person in an official position, whether temporary, technical or advisory, should certainly not be permitted any opportunity to exploit his official position in connection with the particular matters on which he has passed."

The court ruling limiting application of the present law to money claims came in the case of Herbert Bergson, former assistant attorney general in charge of antitrust matters under the Democratic administration.

Brownell had sought to prosecute Bergson on charges that after leaving the department, he had represented two abrasives companies in an antitrust matter which had come under his jurisdiction before he resigned. The District of Columbia federal court threw out the charge, because no money claim was involved.

The attorney general said no money claims are involved in many important government actions. He mentioned the work of the Federal Trade Commission, the Communications Commission and the Interstate Commerce Commission as examples.

400 Scouts Inoculated As Polio Strikes Camp

CHESAPEAKE BEACH, Md., July 14 (AP)—Mass inoculation of 400 Boy Scouts at nearby Camp Roosevelt was under way today after an 11-year-old-Hyattsville boy developed polio there.

The victim, described as suffering a light paralysis of the right arm, apparently was exposed to his infection before he went to the scout camp a week ago Monday but developed the symptoms there, health officials said. He was taken to Childrens Hospital in Washington Monday and the official diagnosis of polio was made yesterday.

Scout officials immediately swung into action. Parents of all the scouts were contacted by telephone by noon today, and all but "three or four" agreed to request that their children be injected with gamma globulin. The blood derivative is believed to confer temporary immunity to those inoculated.

District of Columbia health authorities said none of the other campers has shown any symptons of the disease. Only one scout has been taken home by his parents, a camp official said.

The camp, about four miles south of here, is the official camp of the National Capital Area Scout Council.

Marylander Quizzed In Sheppard Slaying

BALTIMORE, July 14 (AP)—Police tonight held a 36-year-old man, said to have information about the slaying of Mrs. Marilyn Sheppard in Cleveland.

George W. Ennis, 36-year-old Phoenix, Md., electrician was questioned for two hours by detectives and was booked on a charge of parole violation. Police Commissioner Beverly Ober said the man was "being held for Cleveland authorities."

The Baltimore Sun reported the man telephoned the Cleveland Plain Dealer and told the paper he had information about the Sheppard case.

Baltimore police would not say what, if anything, they learned from questioning Ennis. They would say only that he was being held for "investigation about an investigation."

Thomas J. Parrino, assistant Cuyahoga County, Ohio, prosecutor, was reported flying here tonight to question Ennis.

Mrs. Sheppard, 31-year-old wife of Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard, Cleveland osteopath, was bludgeoned to death July 3 in her home at Bay Village, a suburb of Cleveland.

Boats, Plane Fail To Find Drifting Raft

SAN FRANCISCO, July 14 (AP)—Two fishing boats and a private plane failed to find the Hawaiian-bound raft Lehi, presumably drifting somewhere off the central California coast, today.

Radio signals from the Lehi, which had been picked up during the early part of the day, stopped completely this afternoon. The last transmission picked up in this area was 12:30 p.m.

Radio silence and the fact that the Lehi was believed to have been pin-pointed by radio-direction finders to an area about 30 miles off Point Sur, 150 miles south of San Francisco, led to reports that the radio operator Don Smith of Santa Rosa had been taken off the raft and returned to shore.

Checks at San Simeon and Moro Bay, the embarking points of the rescue ships and the plane, disclosed that the report was without foundation.

The Lehi left San Francisco last Friday, hoping to drift on a westward current to the Hawaiian Islands. The current failed to materialize and the raft has bobbed southward since, mostly obscured by fog and tossed on heavy swells.

For the past two days, the radio operator has been calling for help and asking to be removed from the raft. None of the messages, however, have asked for help for the expedition as a whole and none have been signed by Devere Baker, former Mormon preacher and skipper of the Lehi.

Powell Denies He Has 'Record'

WASHINGTON, July 14 (AP)—Clyde L. Powell, ousted assistant commissioner of the Federal Housing Administration, denied today he has a criminal record as alleged in an FBI document put into the record of the Senate Banking Committee.

His attorney, Daniel B. Maher of Washington, filed a formal petition with Congress to "redress of grievances ... under the right given all Americans under the First Amendment" of the Constitution.

The petition said a "letter purporting to show a criminal history" of Powell "was read into the record" and "was hearsay and would not have been received in any court in the land." It complained that Powell had no chance to cross-examine the writer.

Sen. Capehart (R-Ind), chairman of the Senate Banking Committee, ordered the alleged arrest record put into the committee's formal record on June 29, after Powell for the second time refused to answer questions. Powell stood on his constitutional rights under the Fifth Amendment, which says no man may be compelled to testify against himself.

The record of Powell's alleged arrests was said by government witnesses before the committee to be missing from FHA files.

It alleged that Powell was arrested six times on charge of larceny, passing worthless checks and embezzlement between 1916 and 1922, and in 1931 for failure to have a state auto license and again in 1943 for disorderly conduct.

U. S. Steel Education Grants Total $700,000

NEW YORK, July 14 (AP)—The United States Steel Foundation today announced education grants of $700,000, mostly to liberal arts colleges for 1954.

The program also provides for support of the national fund for medical education, for the United Negro Colleges and for a "limited number of graduate fellowships in major institutions," said Benjamin F. Fairless, chairman of the foundation's Board of Trustees.

Some 137 colleges in 14 states are included in the program, among them Virginia, West Virginia and Pennsylvania.

T-Shirt Washed Onto Lake Beach May Be Murder Clue

CLEVELAND, July 14 (AP)—A white T-shirt, now ripped and stained but once similar to the one Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard wore the night his wife was murdered, was washed onto a Lake Erie beach today.

Patrolman Cy Lipaj, one of four Bay Village men assigned to hunt for the shirt and a weapon, found the dripping garment snagged to a piece of wire which had been used to reinforce a concrete pier just west of the Sheppard's suburban lakefront hhome.

Bay Village Police Chief John Eaton sent the shirt to the Cuyahoga county morgue to be tested for blood stains.

Dr. Samuel Gerber, county coroner, has said he considered the missing shirt a key piece of evidence in the July 4 bludgeoning of pretty Mrs. Marilyn Sheppard, 31.

The weapon with which she was hit 25 times on the head has not been found. But following discovery of the shirt, divers went down into the lake again. Dr. Gerber believes the weapon was a piece of metal about 18 inches long and with edges.

Dr. Sheppard, an osteopath, had told investigators he did not know what happened to the shirt and that possibly it had been taken from him by a killer.

A husky former high school player who is now a water skiing enthusiast, the osteopath told of being awakened from a downstairs couch by a cry the night of the killing. He dozed off after visiting neighbors went home.

He said he ran upstairs to his wife's room, was knocked out twice in fights with intruders and finally awakened in shallow lake water.

Probers Learn Of Home Repair Fraud 'Schools'

WASHINGTON, July 14 (AP)—Senate housing investigators, turning briefly away from million dollar windfalls, heard testimony today that home repair salesmen were "trained and schooled" in ways to defraud small home owners.

Andrew Nicol, an investigator for the Bergen County, N. J., prosecutor's office, said the schools were set up "all over the country," and the home repair program, using FHA-insured loans, was operated in some cases as a "typical confidence game."

Fraudulent use of the home repair program, which still is in operation, was included in the charges which led the Eisenhower administration to start a full-scale probe of the Federal Housing Administration last April, but the Senate committee has given most of its attention to the more spectacular million dollar profits made under an expired postwar apartment building program.

In a day devoted to odds and ends, the committee also:

1. Heard that a former Home Loan Bank governor, James F. Twohy who retired in 1947, netted re than $45,000 from a $60minimore than $45,000 from a $60 investment he made in 1950 in a Columbus, Ohio, apartment development which yielded its stockholders a total of $762,000 on a $4,000 investment.

2. Drew from Don A. Loftus, Wilmington, Del., builder formerly connected with Investors Diversified Services of Minneapolis, a statement that he received $197,000 from the Columbus project and $102,000 from one in Wilmington, Del., but not "one 5-cent piece" from two others in which he was interested.

3. Developed a conflict of testimony whether Nathan J. Sonnenblick of New York did or did not authorize use of his name as a sponsor of an Alexandria, Va., project. Sonnenblick said he didn't. Loftus said he did.

4. Heard Ralph J. Solow of Englewood, N. J., reaffirm under oath unsworn testimony given at a closed session June 22 which conflicted with statements given at the same time by Sidney Sarner of Tenafly, N. J. Sarner relied on his rights under the Fifth Amendment in refusing to testify Monday.

Two To Stand Trial For Abusing Trainees

FT. DIX, N.J., July 14 (AP)—The Army today ordered court-martial proceedings against a lieutenant and a sergeant who are accused of making their company stand at attention for an hour in 90-degree weather.

Lt. Robert S. Morgan 28, Wilkes-Barre, Pa., and Sgt. 1. C. Richard J. Witbeck, Wellington, Ohio, go on trial July 22 for taking mass disciplinary action against Company "L". Morgan was company commander and Witbeck his administrative first sergeant. Both have been relieved of their duties.

The court-martial was ordered by Col. Earl L. Ringler, commanding officer of the 272nd Infantry Regiment, following an investigation.

Ringler said Morgan will be charged with dereliction of duty under Article 92 of the Uniform Code of Military Justice, "In that he negligently failed to take appropriate corrective action to prevent the unauthorized treatment of personnel in his command."

Neighbor Admits He Raped, Slew Girl, 5

PECOS, Tex., July 14 (AP)—A 5-year-old girl was found raped and choked to death near her home here last night, and charges of rape and murder were filed today against a 44-year-old neighbor.

The child was Laura Lou Ephram, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Ephram, Pecos Negroes.

The charges were filed against Leroy Ramsey, also a Negro.

County Atty. Darrell Glover said that Ramsey had signed a statement saying he raped and choked the child.

Second Autopsy Performed On Exhumed Body Of Heir

CHICAGO, July 14 (AP)—A team of eight pathologists today performed a second autopsy in an effort to learn what caused the mysterious death of Montgomery Ward Thorne, 20, heir to a mail order fortune.

The autopsy was completed in mid-afternoon and a sealed report was given to Coroner Walter E. McCarron. There was no indication when the findings would be announced.

Dr. Jerry Kearns, physician for McCarron, told newsmen after the autopsy that "the preliminary examination was completed."

"A subsequent examination consisting of microscopic and toxological tests are necessary," Dr. Kearns added in a statement. "It is hoped this will be complete in two weeks."

A previous autopsy report indicated Thorne died violently from a combination of narcotics, alcohol and sleeping drugs. This report was questioned by some pathologists, however, and Thorne's body was exhumed in Rosehill Cemetery yesterday for the new autopsy.

Meanwhile, a coroner's jury delved further into Monty's past and also sought to learn where he spent the last hours before his death. He lived in a $75 a month room on the near North Side where he apparently died about 5 a.m. June 19.

Charles Magistro, 18, of Akron, Ohio, a classmate of Thorne at Fordham University, New York City, at the inquest repeated statements he made to police Saturday. He said Thorne drove with him one night to a parking lot in New York's Harlem district where Monty bought some marijuana cigarettes from a stranger.

Middies Feature One Designer's Styles For Fall

By DOROTHY ROE

NEW YORK, July 14 (AP)—Girls with a rubber-tire waistline will welcome the concealing loose middy silhouette showing up in the New York fall fashion collection, which are being previewed this week by the press.

Notable middy enthusiast is Carolyn Schnurer, the trend-setting sportswear designer, who makes this a headliner in her fall group. She also underscores the "Whisk," a jumper worn with a blouse with a wide Puritan collar, giving the whole thing a new and fresh look.

The unpredictable Miss Schnurer is in favor of "important" blouses this year, worn with coordinated skirts. She shows blouses in handsome striped silk shirtings and solid-color silks, with outsize collars and sleeves puffed at the shoulder.

Harvey Berin, designer of beautiful and expensive gowns for sophisticated women, sticks loyally to the Empire and Princess silhouette this fall, scorning the more casual slouch silhouette introduced by many other houses. He likes the perfectly fitting sheath, which reaches its zenith in a full-length evening gown of yarn-dyed gray flannel with shoulder-strap top, low cut back and a fishtail back flair.

Berin and his designer, Karen Stark glorify the feminine figure with adroit shaping which accentuates the curved bustline and demands a slim waist. Contrasting collars and bow ties are shown on many dresses in this group, which expresses complete elegance in luxurious fabrics, intricate detail and fluid lines.

Buttons play a major role in a number of designs, such as a Rodier tweed dress buttoned all the way down the front, with big buttons on the sleeves. This achieves a prime tailored look by use of a silk linen collar and black necktie.

Skirt lengths in all collections seen thus far by the visiting press remain about the same or slightly shorter than at present. The headline news of the fall style lineup is the "relaxed look" achieved by the loose, bloused waistline.

FLANDERS OPTIMISTIC—Sen. Ralph Flanders, Vermont Republican, tells reporters that he has "an excellent chance" to win his fight to oust Wisconsin Republican Sen. Joseph McCarthy from Senate committee chairmanships. He says he will ask the Senate next Tuesday to bring to a swift vote his pending resolution to strip McCarthy of chairmanships until McCarthy testifies in a new Senate probe of questions about his finances.

Judge, Dodgers Team Up To Bring Joy To Youngster

NEW YORK, July 14 (AP)—Heaven, as measured in boyhood, is a thing of modest joys. And today Danny Gawronski, 13, of Brooklyn wore a bit of heaven on his left hand.

Danny's the lad to whom the Brooklyn Dodgers gave a brand new $20 baseball glove. He broke it in by working out with Preacher Roe and other Dodger players.

"I've been a Dodger fan all my life," exulted Danny from the vast pinnacle of his 13 years. "It was a real thrill."

All this started last April when Danny was given some Easter chicks. They grew up into noisy, rollicking roosters and gave the neighbors fits with their early morning crowing.

So a summons was issued and Monday Danny stood before Magistrate Charles Murphy.

By way of a fine, Danny offered $3 in pennies, nickels and dimes in a paper sack. He had saved the money for three months toward a new baseball glove.

Magistrate Murphy, touched, declined the money, complimented Danny on his ambition and dismissed the complaint.

"A pretty good guy," was the way Danny assessed this guardian of Brooklyn justice.

The Dodgers, also touched, arranged for Danny to pick up a big league glove at Ebbets Field.

"He didn't sleep all night," said his father, Stanley.

Bright and early Danny got his glove. Then he went home to get up a game of ball.

"All the kids wanted to use the glove," reported Danny. "They all wanted to touch it. And they asked all kinds of questions."

It is, of course, the type of glove used by the Dodgers?

"Well, no," conceded Danny. "It's a Mickey Mantle type."

Mantle is the center fielder of the New York Yankees, a team not accorded diplomatic recognition in Brooklyn.

"They made a mistake," said Danny with no trace or reproof. "But it's a good glove."

14 Million Sought To Launch Work On Air Academy

WASHINGTON, July 14 (AP)—An initial appropriation of $14,388,000 is being sought to start work on the new Air Force Academy to be built near Colorado Springs, Colo.

The Air Force's request, far less than the 26 billion dollars authorized for spending during the first year, was disclosed today with publication of testimony taken in a closed session of the House Appropriations Committee.

The total includes a million dollars to provide temporary facilities for the Academy for use until the school can be completed. Maj. Gen. Lee B. Washbourne, assistant air force chief of staff for installations, said most of that amount will be used for alteration of existing barracks buildings at Lowry Field, near Denver, where the first classes are expected to start in about a year with 300 cadets.

Another half million dollars will be used for clearing, grading and otherwise preparing the 5,000-acre permanent academy site about 10 miles north of Colorado Springs.

Washbourne gave no breakdown on how the remainder of the initial appropriation will be spent, but he said the first buildings at the new site will be an administration building and a warehouse. These will become a permanent part of the academy when it is completed.

The buildings will be of heavy masonry construction.

Col. Arthur E. Bourdreau, executive to the special assistant for the Air Academy, said an air field will be constructed later, probably five or six miles away to prevent noise of the planes from interfering with classes.

Love Saves Day

Man, Lost Wife He Hunted For Five Days, Reunited

DETROIT, July 14 (AP)—Amanda Tuxford, 65, and her husband, Eddie, 67, were reunited yesterday after a five day separation.

In the first moments, wifely indignation prevailed. But love and understanding then saved the day.

"That man," said Amanda. "I'll fix him."

In the corridor of the rooming house where Eddie had lost her, Amanda fended off her husband's anxious overtures.

"Go away," she insisted.

"Aw, Amanda," said her mate of 40 years, "Don't be like that. I lost you. I've been walking and walking."

"And I've been waiting and waiting."

Some impulse guided their hands together. They touched, their hands caught firmly. And Eddie and Amanda smiled and kissed.

Eddie lost Amanda when they came by bus to Detroit from Grand Rapids last Friday.

The couple, residents of Rock Island, Ill., until they went to Grand Rapids three months ago, came here in hopes of finding Eddie a dishwashing job.

After returning to the bus depot for their baggage, Eddie couldn't find the rooming house where they had put up at $8 a week.

By day he walked the streets in vain search. By nights he slept in cheap hotels.

The manager of the rooming house, William Allen, called a newspaper yesterday when hearing of Tuxford's predictment. Amanda's and Eddie's reunion quickly followed. Further, Eddie found a job.

Allen said police had called at the rooming house Monday night after Tuxford finally sought their help. But they left without doing anything, he said. Superiors ordered an investigation.

Italian Deputies Approve Mt. Blanc Tunnel Pact

ROME, July 14 (AP)—Italy's Chamber of Deputies ratified today an Italian-French accord to build a tunnel through Mt. Blanc, Europe's highest mountain.

An agreement for construction of the long-planned tunnel shortening highway mileage between France and Italy was reached in Paris March 14, 1954. Under its terms, the tunnel will be built by two companies, one French and one Italian. Each will be backed financially by its respective government.

W.Va. GOP Group Backing Morgan

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., July 14 (AP) — Prosecuting Attorney Albert M. Morgan picked up solid home-county support today in his candidacy for the Republican nomination for Congress from the state's Second District.

The 28-member Republican county executive committee announced its endorsement of Morgan, noting that he is "both a legal and actual resident" of the county.

The other candidate for the GOP nomination is Mrs. Davis Elkins, who has lived in Washington, D.C., for some time but claims Morgantown as her legal residence.

The committee's resolution said Mrs. Elkins "is not an actual resident of Monongalia County" and has been only "a transient guest" at the Hotel Morgan, where she lists her voting address.

Morgan and Mrs. Elkins are seeking to oppose the Democratic incumbent, Rep. Harley O. Staggers of Keyser, in the general election Nov. 2.

Eisenhower Discovers Presidency Presents Some Problems Peculiarly Its Own

WASHINGTON, July 14 (AP)—The job of being a U.S. President, a man who should know pointed out today, presents some problems peculiarly its own.

The man was Dwight D. Eisenhower, and during his news conference he touched on:

The problem of remembering what, if anything, has been made public yet on each issue.

The problem of having everything you say checked and rechecked for accuracy, and

The problem of making vacation plans as long as Congress is on the job.

One of the problems came up because of TVA. "It seems like it has been some time," a reporter said, "since anyone asked you if you've named a new TVA chairman yet."

Had he?

Eisenhower turned to his press secretary, James C. Hagerty, who was sitting behind him. Hagerty shook his head.

When the reporters laughed at this coaching from the sidelines, Eisenhower explained why he turned. It wasn't that he had forgotten about the vacancy or whom he wants in it, but this:

He forgets sometimes, the President said, whether he's made it public.

The President was asked about a statement made by Gov. Walter Kohler of Wisconsin. Kohler had said it was he who had suggested that praise for Gen. George Marshall be stricken from Eisenhower's speech in Milwaukee during the last campaign. Kohler said he feared that praise of Marshall would be construed as a party-splitting attack on Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis), who had been critical of Marshall.

Eisenhower said he's a little hazy about it all now, but it may well be pretty much as Kohler told it.

He has learned, the President said, to distrust his own memory.

As for the vacation—a reporter wanted to know Eisenhower's plans.

The question was especially apt, for the heat wave has reached Washington, too, and dreams of escape to the mountains are inevitable.

Eisenhower said he hopes to go to Denver again this year. But unlike last year, when bills were flown out so he could sign them there, he'll stick around Washington until he cleans up this part of his work.

That's because, he said, he has found he simply must talk with his department heads before taking action on some bills.

Best guess for getting out of town: Aug. 15 to 17.

Conclave Can Name Byrd, Lawyer Rules

Deadlines And Legal Interpretations Are Argued By Opponents

[By The Associated Press]

The lawyer for the Democratic party of Maryland, Harry T. Gross, issued an opinion today which evidently told officials they could proceed to nominate H. C. Byrd for governor at the convention on July 26.

Gross, who amounts to legal arbiter at party conclaves, handed down a ruling that delegates "have no alternative but to cast their votes in accordance with the mandate of the voters."

On the basis of official canvasses in the June 28 Democratic primary, the voters gave Byrd 80 nominating votes to 72 for George P. Mahoney.

Mahoney has recounts going in three counties and Baltimore City. In addition, he has left no doubt he intends to carry the final decisions to court which would delay settlement until well past the convention date.

The Byrd strategists have responded by saying they will go ahead by "legal and customary ways" to nominate him at the convention.

"Steamroller" Cry Arises

Mahoney's camp decried such a move as "steamroller" and Francis T. Burch, a Mahoney lawyer, warned it would mean "political hari-kari" to the Democrats.

Deadlines and legal interpretations have become major features in the close Democratic election.

By law, the convention had to be called within 30 days after the election. The Byrd boosters cite the law is explicit that immediately after "the state convention has effected a permanent organization it shall proceed to the nomination of its candidates."

The Mahoney side argues that the convention may be called within the 30-day limit, meet and then recess without taking any formal action on nominees until all questions have been settled.

Delvers into the election laws also came up today with another deadline. The law requires that absentee ballots for Maryland residents in military service shall be printed not less than 55 days before an election. In the case of the November general election, that would be Sept. 7.

Mahoney Camp Replies

The Mahoney camp, in replying to charges of delaying tactics, said through attorney Hyman A. Pressman.

"We will do everything possible to expedite the completion of the recounts and any legal actions which may follow. If Dr. Byrd cooperates, this can all be completed during the month of August."

The recounts were droning today in Queen Annes, Calvert and Talbot. It was the second week of ballot reviewing in Queen Annes.

Byrd's official canvass margin there of 53 was down again today to 38 and a whole boxful of ballots was in doubt. Pressman claimed they were initialed by someone other than the election judge and should be thrown out. Byrd had 32 more votes than Mahoney in the disputed box.

The Board of Election Supervisors has summoned officials in the precinct for questioning tomorrow to decide on the disputed ballots. The Board last week discarded two batches of ballots which were initialed by a person other than the election judge.

Byrd Gains One In Calvert

Calvert counters went through one-third of their ballots today and the net result after discarding 16 was a gain of one for Byrd, raising his margin in the county to 83. The election supervisors rejected challenges of 35 other ballots, 20 of them by Mahoney.

In Talbot's second day of review, Mahoney gained one vote to cut his county deficit to 52. He was 60 behind at the start. About one-tenth of the 4,000 votes had been gone through.

Mahoney representatives at the recount in the 4th and 5th districts of Baltimore City renewed their request for permission to look at the voter registration books. They have done the same in the counties and been repulsed on all fronts.

Edgar Harvey, deputy attorney general, in an informal opinion ruled at the city recheck that questions of a person's right to vote are not part of a recount.

Gately Flynn, Mahoney legal representative, said he probably will submit a formal petition to scrutinize the voting lists.

The city officials finished checking tallies made by the precinct judges and the machines in the 4th and 5th districts and found no differences. Byrd won the 4th and Mahoney the 5th.

'Treatment' Phase Of Berkeley Dental Survey Completed

McKeldin Goes To Bat For Ike's Roads Program

BOLTON LANDING, N. Y., July 14 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin of Maryland chided his fellow governors here today for developing what he called a case of "buck fever" over President Eisenhower's message early this week about the need for more highway work.

Some governors criticized the President for what they interpreted as a federal government move to take over the highway building functions of the states.

McKeldin said today the President intended no such thing.

The President's message said the country needs to spend 50 billion more for highways in the next ten years than it would ordinarily plan to spend under normal conditions.

"He did not call his proposal a federal program, he did not say it is to be or should be financed by the federal government," McKeldin said today.

"From his vantage point in Washington he merely offers his confirmation of what we already know of our own findings. He seeks to encourage us to build the roads we know we must have. Far from calling for federal management of our highways, Mr. Eisenhower calls for a cooperative alliance between the federal government and the states so that local government—the most efficient sort of government in the administration of funds—will be manager of its own area.

"He seeks to dictate nothing. He is asking our advise. He is asking us to present our program.

"Some of us seem to be suffering a severe attack of buck fever.

"We know what we need in the way of a modern highway system, but when the President brings that need into open view, when we should be ready to start shooting, a lot of fingers freeze on the trigger."

Air Force Academy Applications Invited

WASHINGTON, July 14 (AP)—Sen. Butler (R-Md) today invited eligible young men to file applications with his office for appointment to the new U. S. Air Force Academy to be located at Colorado Springs.

The senator said he had been advised the Air Force expects to enroll the first class of 300 cadets in July of 1955 and four of them will be from Maryland.

Members of the Maryland delegation in Congress have been asked to nominate 10 candidates each for competitive examinations.

RADFORD TESTIFIES ON FOREIGN AID—Adm. Arthur W. Mother, Father Break Down At Son's Trial For Murder

ELLICOTT CITY, Md., July 14 (AP)—Eugene Bryant's mother and father both broke down on the witness stand today at his murder trial.

They sought to show their smallish, red-cheeked, 21-year-old son was not exactly right in the head.

Young Bryant is charged with slaying Joan Marie Ruzza, his pregnant 17-year-old sweetheart in an alley near her home at Capitol Heights, Md., last April 8.

Judge James Clark, presiding over the trial before an all-male jury in Howard County Circuit Court, where the case was transferred from Prince Georges County, overruled a defense motion for a directed verdict of acquittal earlier today.

The defense move was made after introduction of a five page "confession" in which Bryant told police he did not intend to shoot Joan Marie but the gun went off while they were arguing and scuffling.

The statement quoted Bryant as saying he intended to shoot himself but thought there were no more bullets in the .38 revolver.

Thermometers In State Soar To Records

[By The Associated Press]

Thermometers around Maryland soared to records Wednesday, but hardly anyone except possibly the ice man was cheering about them.

The temperature went over 100 around most of the state with Cumberland sweltering in a high of 104.

For the statisticians, it was the hottest July 14 on the records at the Weather Bureau in Baltimore where it hit 101 at 5 p.m. The former high in Baltimore for the date was 98 in 1931.

It also was the hottest day in July since 1941 when it hit 103 on July 28. In fact, it hasn't been as hot on any day since Aug. 27 of 1948.

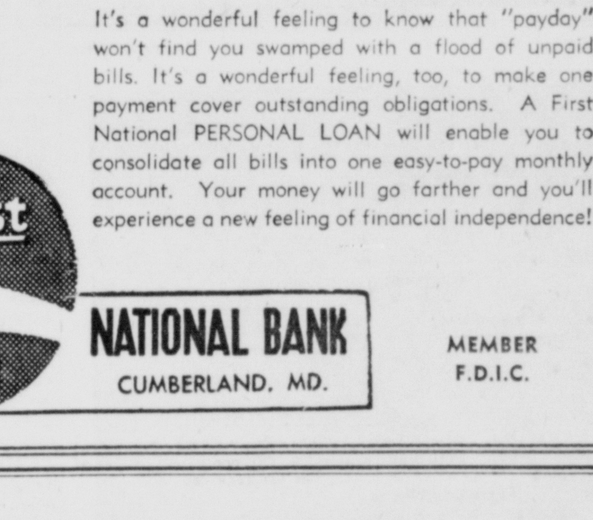

The Eastern Shore was the coolest—if you consider the high nineties cool—section in Maryland. The lowest reading reported by a state police barracks was 97 in Salisbury.

The weather forecasters held out hope for slight relief on Thursday. That means high temperatures between 90 and 95 for most of Maryland.

Except for possible scattered thundershowers, Wednesday night was no better for sleeping than Tuesday when the lowest it got in Baltimore was 79 and the high 60's in the rest of the state.

In the West Virginia eastern panhandle, Martinsburg recorded a high of 103, while several other points in that state hovered around the 100 mark.

Visitor Finds Fault With Cop's Language

A letter was received by Mayor Roy W. Eves from a resident of York, Pa., who said that a member of the Cumberland Police Department used what he and his wife considered to be "insulting and uncalled-for language" during a traffic mixup in Cumberland.

The signer of the letter, Earney G. Fishel of York, wrote: "While traveling through your beautiful City of Cumberland, I made inquiry from an officer about Route 220 and the direction of Bedford."

Fishel said he followed instructions but apparently wound up in a wrong traffic lane. Then the patrolman handling vehicular movement gave out with the outburst.

Fishel concluded by saying, "Such language certainly does not tend to have the visitor leave your town with the kindliest feelings."

Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan referred the letter to Police Chief R. Emmett Flynn for investigation.

In a memorandum to the department, Flynn stated, "I have only one side of the above statement, but if there was any misconduct on the part of the officer involved such action will not be tolerated."

ADA Urges Senators To Back Up Flanders

BALTIMORE, Duly 14 (AP) — The Baltimore chapter of Americans for Democratic Action have asked Maryland's two U. S. senators to back up Sen. Flanders (R-Vt) in his demand that Sen. McCarthy be stripped of two committee chairmanships.

The request was in the form of a telegram signed by Herbert Fedder, chairman of the chapter, who said "communism can be combatted more effectively by other methods which, unlike Sen. McCarthy's, do not threaten traditional civil liberties or damage the reputation of the Senate and the American people."

Members of the ADA in Baltimore were asked in a letter to write to Sen. Beall and others asking them to support the Flanders resolutions.

of many beautiful churches, virtually all of them Roman Catholic.

The Orr family is nearing the end of a six week vacation in the United States. Besides Robert, the husband, there is Nedra, his wife, who comes from Virginia, and their two children, Robert Jr., seven-and-one-half, and Candyce Valencia, who is 17 months old. They named the girl in part for the city in which she was born.

They came to the United States aboard a Grace Line steamer, the Santa Rosa. They brought Folsom's two daughters to New York City with them. They will return July 23 on the Santa Paula, another Grace Line ship.

Since their arrival here the Orrs have visited in New York, Washington, Narrows, Va., and Cincinnati. They arrived in Lonaconing Sunday and will leave there tomorrow. From here they will go to Washington for a few more days and then on to New York to end their stay.

It probably will be another two years before the Orrs return again for a visit in the United States.

IT'S A HAPPY OCCASION for Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hewston of Pittsburgh as they are reunited with their daughter, Peggy Ann, 17, in Albuquerque, N. M. Two years ago, Peggy Ann ran away from home because she didn't like the school she attended. And she had lots to tell the folks. For she is married to Sgt. Tom E. Cory, who is stationed at a New Mexico air base, and has a six-week-old son. (International)

Record Downpour

Willowbrook Road outside the city limits. Central firemen answered the call and said the bolt blew the fuses and caused considerable smoke in the home. Damage was slight.

Basements, Streets Flooded

At Fort Cumberland Hotel a hot motor in the basement caused a fire scare, which also was answered by Central. However, no damage was reported.

Water flowed down Walnut Place from Greene Street to the Potomac River like a small creek on the rampage. Basements in many houses were filled with water and firemen were swamped with calls by residents who feared the inundation would short-circuit wiring and cause fires.

The proprietor of Viaduct Inn Restaurant called for a portable pump to pump out the water in his basement beneath the restaurant when it rose almost to first-floor level.

Veteran police and firemen were unanimous in saying it was one of the worst storms they had experienced.

Downtown Cumberland was littered with dirt and debris with sidewalks covered several inches deep with soft muck and mud. A display window of the Embassy Theatre was torn loose and was hurled to the sidewalk on Baltimore Street.

Eight inches of water filled the home of Robert U. Price, 437 Willowbrook Road, when a small run in that section left its banks.

Several homes on Wineow Street were also flooded, when water from the storm collected on the street there below the subway, driving the occupants upstairs. Furniture in the home, upturned by the swirling waters, was damaged considerably.

Dirt and silt filled the underpass at Wineow Street, and in some spots was piled over a foot high.

A Cumberland Transit Lines bus broke down on Williams Street during the course of the storm. While being towed into the car barn by a company mechanic, the brakes failed while going through the subway at Virginia Avenue and the driver was forced to run the bus against the subway to avoid hitting any other vehicles. However, damage to the bus was minor.

Several other buses were unable to make their scheduled runs due to the flooded subway at Virginia Avenue.

West Side firemen went to check on fallen wires at Fisher and Rooinette's and on Decatur Street.

A group of boys went swimming at the South Cumberland underpass, where the water was several feet deep.

Creek Area Hit

Streets in Frostburg were reported flooded and firemen were pressed into action to stand by.

A power failure was reported in Moscow just before the storm hit this city. Heavy rains and high winds hit the Tri-Towns.

Grantsville was in darkness and due to the power failure volunteer firemen were alerted and stood by their telephones as the siren was knocked out.

Outlying districts in general seemed to have lights, although property damage was heavy and gardens were practically washed away.

Nursery, Convention Discussed By Class

The church nursery project and the district convention were discussed by members of the Progressive Class of First Christian Church at the meeting recently in the church social room with Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Pyle hosts.

Miss Etta Heinrich reported $15 worth of toys have been purchased for the nursery and the class decided to purchase a phonograph also. Mrs. Lillian Hannas presided and appointed Mrs. Margaret Mason chairman.

It was decided to serve a Saturday evening meal to guests at the district convention, to be held in August. The committee in charge of arrangements consists of Miss Heinrich, Mrs. Pyle, Mrs. Evelyn Schraum, Mrs. Leona McClellan, Mrs. Helen Horevay, Miss Joann Sachs and Dale Tichnell. The class also voted to purchase additional settings of silverware to take care of the crowds expected for the convention.

Devotionals were conducted by Mrs. Helen Horevay, Leon Schraum, Miss Heinrich, Mrs. Schraum and Mrs. Lillian Hannas. Concluding the evening refreshments were served.

Fire Display Set For Scout Camp

Cumberland Girl Scout camp at Green Ridge forest will be the scene of a mass evacuation and fire demonstration Friday at 9:30 a. m.

Brooke Bodkin, senior forester, with four other district personnel of the Maryland Department of Forests and Parks will conduct the evacuation.

This will be training for the girls who are attending the camp in the event of fire. The camp is entirely surrounded by Green Ridge State Forest and this event will give the girls experience in mass evacuation methods.

The counsellors have selected a system of trails to be used in the event a fire would occur at any section near the camp.

The campers will be led to safety zones which were to be set out by Bodkin on a visit to the state forest yesterday.

Tuesday Bodkin conducted a fire demonstration at Camp Potomac, the camp of Potomac Council, Boy Scouts, near Oldtown.

He showed the 84 Scouts attending the first week of camp how to hook up a portable pump and how to operate a Panama pump which is mounted on a truck.

The senior forester then demonstrated the digging of a sluice on a fire line and filling it with water from the camp's lake.

After the demonstration, movies on forest conservation were shown by Bodkin.

Train Sparks Blamed For Grass Fires

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa., July 14 (AP)—Fire fighters today blamed sparks from a railroad locomotive for a series of grass fires that burned out parts of six farms about six miles south of here.

Fire officers at nearby Letterkenny Ordnance Depot said 10 pieces of fire fighting apparatus were called from the depot and from Chambersburg to fight the blaze.

The grass fires, which burned in the vicinity of Kauffman's Station and Gilbert Springs, destroyed no buildings. No estimate of damage or acreage consumed by the blazes was available immediately.

The Pennsylvania Railroad's Cumberland Valley branch runs through the Kauffman's Station-Gilbert Springs area.

Famous Trichologist Tells Truth About Saving And Improving Hair

This new method of home treatment of saving and growing thicker hair will be demonstrated in Cumberland, Md., Thursday ONLY, July 15, 1954, 12 noon to 9 P. M. These private individual demonstrations will be held at the Fort Cumberland Hotel on Thursday ONLY, July 15, 1954.

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 7 — In an interview here today D. Russell Collins, internationally famous trichologist and director of the Collins Hair and Scalp Experts, Inc. said "There are 18 different scalp disorders that cause most men and women to lose hair. Using common sense, a person must realize no one tonic or so called cure-all could correct all the disorders," he explained.

GUARANTEED

"The Collins firm, recognizing that most people are skeptical of claims that hair can be grown on balding heads, offer a guarantee," Collins said.

Once a person avails themselves to the Collins treatment his skepticism immediately disappears. To insure this, we offer this guarantee. "If you are not completely satisfied with your hair progress at the end of 30 days your money will be returned."

HOPELESS CASES DISCOURAGED

First the Collins specialists are quick to tell hopeless cases that they cannot be helped. But the "hopeless" cases are few. Only if a man is completely, shiny bald is he in the lost category.

If there is fuzz, no matter how light, thin, or colorless, the Collins firm can perform wonders.

Every one is given a complete private examination to determine the condition of his scalp, and cause for his hair trouble.

FREE EXAMINATIONS

This examination is very thorough and highly technical. It requires 20 to 30 minutes. There is no charge for this examination and no appointment is necessary. After the examination he is told the required length of treatment and how much it will cost.

After starting treatment, he makes regular reports to the Collins firm in Oklahoma City, and a trichologist will return to check his progress periodically.

To spread the opportunity of normal, healthy hair to the thousands who are desperately looking for help, the Collins firm is sending specialists to various cities throughout the United States to conduct examinations and start home treatment.

NO CURE-ALL

"We have no cure-all for slick, shiny baldness," Collins emphasizes. "If there is fuzz, the root is still capable of creating hair and we can perform what seems to be a miracle."

There is one thing Collins wants to be certain every man and woman knows. If a recession appears at the temples or a spot begins to show on the crown of the head, there is something wrong and it should be given immediate attention.

HAIR FOR LIFETIME

"If clients follow our directions during treatment and after they finish the course, there is no reason why they will not have hair all the rest of their lives," Collins said. "Our firm is definitely behind this treatment, it all depends on the individual client's faithful observation of a few simple rules.

HOW'S YOUR HAIR?

If it worries you call Trichologist Rex Ochs at the Fort Cumberland Hotel in Cumberland, Md. on Thursday ONLY, July 15. The public is invited.

You do not need an appointment. The examinations are private and you will not be embarrassed or obligated in any way.—Adv.

Note: Trichologist Ochs will be in Hagerstown, Md. on Friday, July 16. References: First Nat'l Bank and Trust Co. of Okla. City.

Kansas Man Named Head Of College Music School

CHARLES I. SAGER

Miss Lillian C. Compton, president of Frostburg State Teachers College, yesterday announced the appointment of Charles I. Sager of Topeka, Kan., as head of the music department of the college. Sager succeeds Dr. Maurice Matteson who retired in June.

Sager, who has been head of the music department of Washburn University, in Topeka, Kan., since 1947, is an accomplished artist having appeared in many musical programs in the midwest as a baritone soloist and as a conductor. He has also taught two years at Westminster College, New Wilmington, Pa.; 11 years in Doane College, Crete, Neb.; summer session at Baker University, Baldwin, Kan.; four years at Buena Vista College, Storm Lake, Iowa.

He received his bachelor of music and master of music degrees from Kansas University. Further study: voice, Edward Sacherdote, American Conservatory, Chicago; Herbert Gould, Drake University, Des Moines, Iowa; Salon Alberti, New York; conducting: Nikolai Malko, Salzburg, Bavaria; Mills College, Oakland, Calif.; Hugh Ross, Berkshire Music Festival; Opera: Goldovsky, Berkshire Music Festival; and Mardigal with Edmund Fellowes, Doane College.

Professionally he has appeared as soloist and with chorus at the American Music Festival (Berkshire); the Robert Shaw Chorale, and baritone soloist and guest conductor in oratorios.

He is a member of Phi Mu Alpha and Pi Kappa Lambda fraternities.

He is married and the father of a 13-year-old son.

Child Fatally Injured When Hit By Train

A 19-month-old girl was fatally injured Monday when she was struck by an engine of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company while playing near her home in Manns Choice, Pa.

The child, Trudy Kay Wertz, was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wertz.

The youngster was taken to Bedford County Memorial Hospital, Bedford, where she died several hours after being admitted.

Mrs. Wertz told authorities her daughter had wandered away while she was doing the family wash. She was unaware of the accident until she heard a commotion by the railroad tracks, located about 100 yards from the Wertz home.

Members of the train crew were questioned by Coroner Vernon B. Geise. It was vertified that the whistle of the engine had been blown and that the engine had not been traveling at an excessive rate of speed when the fatal accident occurred. Members of the train crew were absolved of any blame and the accident was termed "unavoidable."

Mrs. Wertz explained to authorities that she, her husband and other relatives had spent most of the morning threshing grain in a field across the railroad tracks from their home.

She had returned home shortly before the accident and awakened Trudy and her brother from their afternoon nap. Trudy's brother was taken to his grandfather's home nearby, while Trudy remained with her mother. Mrs. Wertz said Trudy must have been attracted by the noise from the threshing operations and wandered into the path of the train while trying to reach the workers.

School Cafeterias To Be Used As Auditoriums Also

County To Provide Rollaway Equipment

By mechanical means, the Allegany County Board of Education is providing dual use of the auditoriums of some of its elementary schools.

The initial phase of this program, started by Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of schools, and his staff, has covered three Cumberland schools where the original auditoriums were converted to cafeterias.

This has been through the means of rollway tables and benches that have been purchased for East Side, Johnson Heights and Columbia Street schools.

In each of these schools, Webster explained, it became necessary in years past to take over the auditorium for cafeteria space.

Webster said he feels that the assembly periods are an important element in the well-rounded training of an elementary school pupil.

The fact that the auditoriums were placed in the schools at the beginning is sufficient basis for their being in the schools today, Webster observed.

In each of the schools, when the cafeterias were installed in the auditoriums, they were furnished with permanent type benches and tables.

These are being removed and utilized in other branches of education field in the county.

In their place will be folding tables and chairs with permanent casters to enable them to be taken down in less than a minute and rolled away. They will be stored and folding chairs set up to give pupils an assembly room.

Webster said only a small number of metal folding chairs had to be purchased as the three schools had supplies of them that very nearly met the demand.

For a small expenditure, the three schools will now have ample opportunity for the staging of their operettas, plays, and, when the chairs and tables and benches are removed, for an indoor dancing place during winter.

An excellent program of folk dancing is inculcated in the elementary grades during their studies of various lands and peoples.

Edwards Urges Citizens To Conserve On Water

Water Commissioner William J. Edwards yesterday appealed to citizens to be conservative in use of the water supply after consumption topped the 17,000,000 gallon mark Tuesday, the hottest day of the year.

Edwards said the city wants help from citizens in heading off the heavy drain now so bans on non-essential uses will not be necessary later.

Should the current dry spell continue, Edwards said, the trend of consumption, which is paralleling that of last year, could bring about as bad a condition as existed here this spring, if not worse.

From late February until the middle of June, all non-essential uses were banned on an "honor" basis.

Edwards stated his department does not want to work a hardship on any one but a little saving now may prevent hardship on every one later if there is no pickup in rainfall.

He repeated his previous caution that the city should practice "careful, not wasteful" use of water to prevent a recurrence of the shortened supply.

The trend toward a return to last year's high consumption is evidenced in figures presented to the Mayor and Council by the Evitts Creek Water Company.

For example, last week, consumption was 97,100,000 gallons compared to 96,200,000 the same period a year ago. That is 900,000 gallons more and a daily average of over 13,871,000 gallons.

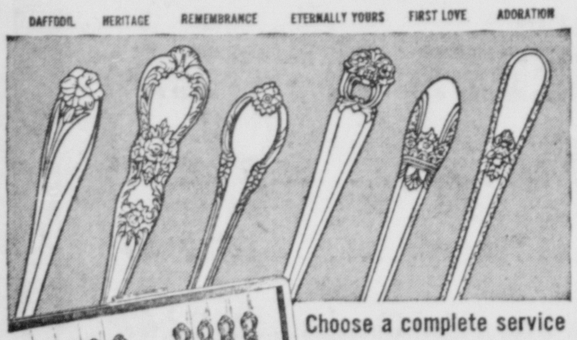

The city computes its water level figures on the basis of 13,000,000 gallons.

In 1953, one day in early August went to 16,700,000 and on August 30 zoomed to 17,770,000. In the period dating from August 30 through the end of September last year, the daily average use was over 16,000,000.

In fact, figures show that from July 1 last year until the first week of December, water consumption weekly averaged well over the 100,000,000 gallon mark.

Congress Preserves Naval Shrines

U. S. S. Constitution has been out of active Navy commission for only two decades but today, what with wind, weather and the depredations of young visitors, she looks down at the heel.

The Navy, over the years, has managed to squeeze enough money from annual appropriations to keep a semblance of dignity about her as she lies at her berth in the Boston Navy Yard.

A bill was passed by the House earlier at this session which made slightly less than a million dollars available for restoration of the Constitution and also granted authority for the Navy to hand over several other ships in the relic class, such as the Constellation, of Civil and Spanish War fame, to private groups for restoration and maintenance.

The fate of the bill which would insure permanent enshrinement for Old Ironsides was in doubt in the Senate. In a year which has seen the military budgets combed and recombed for items which could be dispensed with, such an expression of sentimentalism appeared to be in for rough passage. But the reverse was true.

Thus the restoration of Old Ironsides is assured. Fortunately a great deal of the hull and rigging detail still exists in marine museums, and there are men alike who can work and adz down an oak rib and shape a strake and run a long splice. The little shipyards around New England, where hulls of sailing yachts are still built with many of the tools and methods of a century and a half ago, can contribute their bit to what may become a national preoccupation.

It will not be surprising if new spars come out of the New Hampshire hills, where some of the original pines earmarked for the fleets of King George, can still be found. Eventually spars will rise, yards will be swayed up, gun ports will be replaced, their yawns concealing the muzzles of her guns—22 to port and 22 to starboard. Youngsters can squint aloft at the maze of cordage, and reflect that powder monkeys who once shinnied aloft with the crew were little older in years than they.

The pennies of the nation's children saved the Constitution from the scrap yard once, and public sentiment did another time under the lash of Oliver Wendell Holmes' pen. Congress has done well to assure the future of this and other shrines.

These Days

Professional Witnesses

The attack on conscious and active anti-Communists continues in many forms. The attack is now concentrated against what is referred to as the informer. Of such, there must be thousands in the United States, men and women, who call attention to publications, circulars, movies, meetings, and all sorts of activities which they believe to be subversive. Some make sense; some are nonsense. Some represent good will and patriotism; some are nothing more than personal spite and hatred. It takes a very thorough knowledge of the Communist movement to be able to evaluate this material.

For instance, a publication is issued in Union, N. J., called "Common Sense," which regards itself as anti-Communist and is so accepted by many. It has some circulation and is offered for sale in bulk. I have before me an issue of that paper which is headed: "The Coming Red Dictatorship." The sub-head reads: "Asiatic Marxist Jews Control Entire World as Last World War Commences . . ." There is more of this.

The first words of the article are: "You will be shot." Four streamers of photographs show a number of Americans who are Jews, including Bernard Baruch, who is described as "most influential man in the world." The last photograph on that line is David Dubinsky who has been more effective in the fight against world communism than any 10 anti-Communists I know of.

Such a publication is not the way to fight communism nor does it provide Americans with data to help them evaluate the Communist movement in the United States. This is anti-Semitism in its most direct form.

On the other hand, most of the authentic data on the nature and activities of the American Communist movement must come from former members and particularly officials of the Communist party and from undercover men and women put into the party by the FBI and police agencies. The reason that this can be the only source is that there is no other.

Some who were not former Communists and undercover agents may have worked with material sufficiently to be able to evaluate the testimony they give. Again, among anti-Communists are doctrinaire persons who have a vested interest in their own theories. Again, there are some who while they are now anti-Communists remain Marxists; their hatred for Russia is fierce because they hold that the Russians abandoned Marx and have reverted to Bakunin. In any evaluation of their testimony, these criteria must be given due consideration.

I know those who are referred to as "professional witnesses." They are former Communists or undercover agents who are often called before grand juries, congressional committees and court cases. They are sincere fighters against communism and in spite of the fact that some of them accept a per diem fee, they serve at a sacrifice and receive less than they could earn at other work. Most of them earn less than their attackers do, and the attackers generally are inadequately informed about this movement which has succeeded in doing this country such damage.

If such witnesses as Louis Budenz, Elizabeth Bentley, Paul Crouch, and some others are frightened away from giving testimony, new witnesses may not step forward.

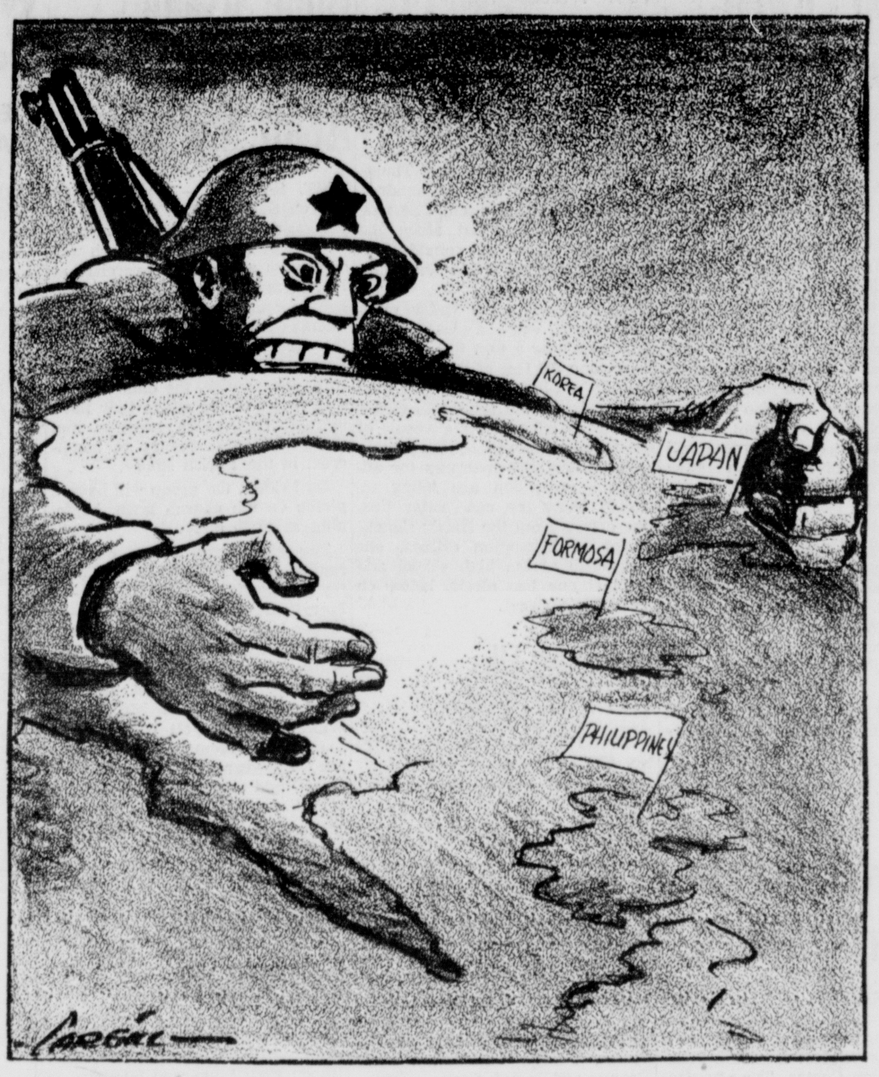

One of the major difficulties is that sometimes a witness, working constantly in the same material, will tell more than he has personally experienced because it is not easy to separate what one has experienced from what one has heard from another person. Little of this data includes eye-witness operations; the witness has heard something at a meeting, or he has read a report, or he has seen the minutes of a meeting. We are dealing with a conspiracy and conspirators do not make it easy to uncover themselves.

If the reader is interested in a fictionized but, in my judgment, a thoroughly correct description of how this conspiracy works, he will find it in a serial recently published in "The Saturday Evening Post," entitled "The Darby Trial" by Dick Pearce. This story is correct in every detail. It will be seen here, as it is true everywhere, that within the movement there are many conspiracies and cover-ups.

The so-called "professional witness," for one reason or another, is serving this country and is not deserving of the calumny currently being heaped upon him by those who have never done the work necessary to know this field.

U. S. Budget Shows Businessmen Get Higher Subsidies Than Do Farmers

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Few people have ever seen the budget of the United States. Some people think it's merely an ethereal set of figures that Congress debates about every year. Actually, however, it's about the size of a New York phone book and just about as dull. The last few pages, however, are extremely significant and ought to be paraded on the Senate floor during the debate on so-called farm subsidies.

For these figures show the amount of subsidies paid to farmers, veterans, businessmen, and others. Highest subsidy, of course, is listed as paid to veterans in the form of bonuses and hospitalization, totaling $4,214,000,000 in 1953.

What may surprise some people, however, is that the subsidy paid to businessmen is about twice as much as that paid to farmers. Farmers got $523,000,000 for soil conservation, price supports, and other government help in 1953, whereas businessmen got $1,216,000,000.

This aid to business, incidentally, was not to small businessmen. It was to upper-bracket business which has yelled so loud about "creeping socialism" yet spent so much money lobbying Congress into voting more money for "galloping favoritism."

They include "helpless little groups" like the United States Steel Corporation, the big utility companies, and some of the big shipping companies.

Humphrey Got Tax Write-Off

Here, for instance, are some of the subsidies big business has been able to obtain—in contrast to farmers' price supports.

The M. A. Hanna Company, one of the biggest iron and steel holding companies in the U. S. A., largely owned and operated by George Humphrey before he became secretary of the treasury, got more than $22,000,000 in tax subsidies just a few weeks before he entered the cabinet. The Hanna Coal and Ore Company, one of his subsidiaries, got a 75 per cent depreciation on an $11,345,000 iron-ore investment in Minnesota and another 70 per cent tax write-off on a $22,000,000 nickel plant in Oregon. The two plants were permitted to depreciate 70 and 75 per cent of their value in five years instead of about 25 years.

These tax write-offs were rushed through during the last few weeks of the Truman administration so Humphrey's company would not be embarrassed by asking for them when he became secretary of the treasury later.

Today the new tax bill gives the same kind of quick depreciation tax write-offs to other types of big business, and Randolph Paul, former general counsel of the Treasury and author of "Taxation In The United States," has told congressmen this tax subsidy will cost the public $40,000,000,000 in the next 17 years. In contrast, when a farmer builds a barn he gets no tax write-off, but must spread his depreciation over a period of about 30 years.

Utility Subsidies

The big utility companies spend an average of half a million dollars a year on their lobby to influence Congress. At least that's the amount they register officially with Congress. Today this appears to be reaping dividends. One utility combine, Dixon-Yates, has just put across by special order of President Eisenhower a 25-year contract with the Atomic Energy Commission, despite the opposition of a majority of AECommissoiners.

Under this order, Dixon-Yates will invest only $5,300,000 cash, be guaranteed a nine per cent return by Uncle Sam, will own the plant at the end of 25 years; and will get the benefit of an annual $3,600,000 overcharge made up by the taxpayers for the difference between what they would have to pay TVA instead of Dixon-Yates.

This was why Congressman Holifield of California, a member of the Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy, calls this not "creeping socialism" but "galloping federal favoritism."

In contrast the farmer is guaranteed no nine per cent return on his investment. He has been guaranteed 90 per cent of the price paid during a cross-section average of previous years.

More Gravy

Here are some of the other subsidies to business to which the U. S. budget refers when it shows that business annually gets about twice the subsidy given to farmers:

Certain airlines get between $70,000,000 and $95,000,000 annually for carrying the mail. On top of this the taxpayers have paid for radar, lighting beacons and other safety aids for the airlines totaling $21,361,040 in 1951, $13,007,035 in 1952, and $7,000,000 in 1953. Taxpayers also paid $73,931,733 for personnel to operate these safety aids in 1951, plus $80,484,761 in 1952, plus about $105,000,000 in 1953. In addition, another $37,000,000 and $16,000,000 went for runways and construction work at airports in 1951-52 and another $19,821,000 in 1953.

The shipping companies also get an average of around $30,000,000 a year in subsidies to operate their vessels; the United States Lines got a construction subsidy of $18,225,000, plus a national defense subsidy of $24,061,000 for building the SS United States; while the Grace Lines and Moore-McCormick are being voted subsidies for four new vessels by the current Congress.

These vessels will be turned over to the United States in time of war and this subsidy policy may be a wise one. Also, it is important to keep U. S. airlines operating around the world. But likewise, the American farmer has to feed a good part of the world in case of war and he, like the shipping and airplane companies, can't contract and expand his economy for peace or wars without facing economic chaos.

Reds Can Prove Belief In "Peaceful Co-Existence"

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — The Moscow and Peiping governments have been given a chance to demonstrate whether they believe in "peaceful co-existence" or unabated aggression.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles went to Paris to find out whether there is any chance for a real negotiation to end the Indochina War. If there was, he planned to return to Washington this week and send Under Secretary Walter Bedell Smith to carry on at Paris or Geneva. If there is no change, Mr. Dulles will, when he comes back, explain the situation to the American people, and the United States will disassociate itself from any settlement that appears to be heading toward an abandonment of the opportunities of the three associated states of Indochina to realize their hopes for freedom from Communist domination.

Any idea that the whole Indochina problem is going to be solved ether at Paris or Geneva in time for the July 20 deadline set by Premier Mendes-France can be dismissed now. For unquestionably, if there is any tangible hope for an agreement, it will take many weeks to iron it out. Thus the French premier is expected to resign next Tuesday, but President Coty will not accept the resignation and will ask Mr. Mendes-France to continue on for a while at the head of the government. The French Parliament undoubtedly will grant the extension of time.

Optimistic Estimate

If the situation looks hopeful, the negotiations at Geneva may take at least three or four weeks. Memories of Panmunjom, where the Korean armistice was negotiated during several months, make that estimate a bit optimistic but the pressure on both sides for a settlement is greater in this instance. It all depends on how far Moscow and Peiping are willing to go to exploit a new position they may assume as peace-makers. It's a rare opportunity for their propaganda and, if they really want "peaceful co-existence," the Indochina War offers a constructive opportunity to show their good faith.

There are some folks in the world who naively believe the Indochina War is just a natural movement by the people there to gain independence and that the rebels are merely persons who have embraced communism as a political philosophy. The evidence shows clearly that Red China has been guilty of aggression in neighboring countries. Here are the words of Secretary Dulles bearing on this point, taken from a confidential session with the Senate Foreign Relations committee of just a few weeks ago, as officially released now by the Senate for publication:

"The situation in Indochina is fraught with danger, not only to the immediate area, but to the security of the United States and its allies in the Pacific area. That area is one which is vital to the peace and safety of the United States.

"Communist China has been supplying to the Viet Minh an ever increasing volume of munitions and military supplies. There is also evidence that Soviet arms have been supplied in increasing quantities to Communist forces in Indochina.

"In their classic manner the Communists have sought to capitalize on local aspirations for independence, and have used these aspirations to gain control of a movement which was primarily nationalistic in its inception.

"The rules of Communist China train and equip in China the troops of the puppet, Ho-Chi-minh. They supply these troops with large amounts of artillery and ammunition made in Soviet bloc countries. They supply military and technical guidance in the staff section of Ho Chi-minh's command, at the division level, and in specialized units such as the signal and engineering corps, artillery units, and transportation.

"The plan is not only to take over Indochina but to dominate all of Southeast Asia. The struggle thus carries a grave threat not only to Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia but also to such friendly neighboring countries as Thailand, Malaya, Burma, Indonesia, the Philippines, Australia and New Zealand."

Reached Significant Stage

The secretary advocated the grant of flexible authority to use the current appropriations for whatever may be needed in any new situation that arises in Southeast Asia. If there is a cease-fire and an armistice, it is likely that military support will be built up behind the lines to guarantee that the settlement will not be violated. America will help to finance this just as is the case in supporting the Korean armistice line.

Once a cease-fire is attained in Indochina, the military stalemate there will resemble the one in Korea, but the free world will wait now to see if there is any sincere desire by the Communists to set up such a line at all and end the aggression or whether for a while it will merely relieve the Communists' mischief-making strategists from duties in Southeast Asia and turn all such energies toward fomenting more trouble in Tunisia and Morocco. The "cold war" has reached a significant stage.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

If the Constitution follows the Flag the amendments should never be waived.

Nevertheloose, we have come up with the Fifth Amendment patriot ambushed behind an afterthought.

The Fifth Amendment citizen has switched the plural preamble, "We, the people," to the singular, "Me, the people."

He has erected a corridor barricade of Article V, which says no citizen shall be deprived of property or its equivalent in pawn tickets without process of slot machines, bingo or a habeas grabbus.

The Fifth Amendment citizen claims no one shall be put twice in jeopardy even if he does it again.

But mostly the Fifth Amendment says even the two-headed boy shall not be compelled to scrub the other head's teeth without due process of law as placarded on the inside of hotel room doors.

The Fifth Amendment citizen hides behind Article V like it was the stone walls at Concord Bridge.

We have finally rounded up the subject and are doing something about it. Congress is making treason in peace time punishable by a ride on a cloud.

It is doing what this stack of sidewalk superintending wrote 15 years ago, "We need a law punishing the vandal who removes today's rails for the train that will be whecked tomorrow."

We need that codicil for the Fifth Articleer who termites the works between wars. And if we have to burn the barn down to get rid of the rats let's put the hot-foot to the hay.

We might even amend the amendment.

It protects the traitor. And a good liar doesn't need it.

Operation Don't Argue

By Joseph And Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

To the Soviet enemy, the transcript in the case of Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer has revealed many secret matters. To the American scientific community, this same transcript has made an even more dangerous revelation.

In brief, it has shown that Dr. Oppenheimer really got into trouble, not because of his alleged defects of character, but because he gave his government honest, informed, usually sensible but unwelcome advice.

The chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, Admiral Lewis Strauss, has gone to great lengths to give a different impression. "Defects of character" were the theme of his bitter opinion against Oppenheimer. And to a disturbed and protesting scientist of Los Alamos laboratory, the stronghold of our weaponry, Strauss wrote:

"The Atomic Energy Commission does not believe that any government servant — scientist, engineer or administrator—should slant his advice or temper his professional opinion because of apprehension that such advice or opinion might be unpopular now or in the future."

Naturally, however, the scientists are testing these assurances by Admiral Strauss, against the record compiled by his own subordinates. That record begins, of course, with the commission charge against Dr. Oppenheimer, with its ugly hints about the H-bomb controversy. And that record continues through the massive transcript, with attack after attack on Dr. Oppenheimer's advice to his government. Dr. Oppenheimer's stand on the H-bomb, in which he was of course joined by a majority of other American scientific leaders, is only a small part of the story.

Wilson Gives Reason

For example, Maj. Gen. Charles Roscoe Wilson testifies that one of the reasons why he "felt impelled to go to the director of intelligence to express my concern" was because of "my awareness that Dr. Oppenheimer was interested in what I call the internationalizing of atomic energy, this at a time when the United States had a monopoly." It did not matter, naturally, that this interest of Dr. Oppenheimer's was shared by B. M. Baruch. It was interest that did not suit people like Gen. Wilson.

Again, there is the matter of the long-range detection system. Among the secrets the transcript discloses is the fact that a long-range detection device for nuclear explosions had already been developed in war-time by Dr. Oppenheimer's Los Alamos team. But no bouquets are handed to Dr. Oppenheimer for this quite remarkable achievement.

On the contrary, he is hectored at great length because he had advised his government that the air sample method of long-range detection was more important than seismographic or barometric methods. This, too, had upset the Air staff, which took a different view. And of course it did not matter that in this instance, Dr. Oppenheimer's advice was wholly correct.

Then there is the Vista story. Here, Dr. Oppenheimer's sin was to suggest a change in the then-existing arrangement, which made the whole existing atomic stockpile the monopoly asset of the Strategic Air Command. He wanted the stockpile divided, instead, into three parts — one part for SAC, one part for Tactical Air and other use on the battlefield, and one part as reserve.

To be sure, Dr. Oppenheimer knew what the generals seemed not to have known, that the grim era of atomic plenty would soon permit such a division of the stockpile. To be sure, the thinking developed by Dr. Oppenheimer and others in the Vista report is now, generally speaking, the official thinking of the Pentagon. But the generals' toes were trodden on by Dr. Oppenheimer's premature correctness, and suspicions were aroused.

Lincoln Story

Finally, there is the shocking Lincoln story. Here the transcript shows the Air Force venomously opposing all efforts to organize a serious air defense of the United States — "sabotaging" is the ugly word used by the distinguished Dr. Gregory Zacharias. And here the transcript shows, too, that in this present year of doubtful grace, Dr. Oppenheimer was solemnly charged with probable disloyalty because he wanted his country to be defended against Soviet air-atomic power.

Indeed, with the sole exception of the H-bomb debate, time has proven that all Dr. Oppenheimer's advice to his government was sound and good. But it was not, to borrow Admiral Strauss's word, "popular" advice. And its unpopularity quite clearly and directly generated the bad feeling, the nasty whispering, the sinister public hints, which in turn made possible Admiral Strauss's ultimate attack on Dr. Oppenheimer.

All but one or two of the basic facts showing supposed defects in Dr. Oppenheimer's character were known in war-time at Los Alamos; and were known, too, when Strauss and the other members of the AEC unanimously reaffirmed Dr. Oppenheimer's clearance in 1947.

Prostatic Cancer Will Respond To Hormone Treatment

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Cancer of the prostate is one of the few malignancies that responds to hormone treatment. The results are so astonishing that men over 40 need not worry about a painful death from this cause. We hope comparable remedies will be found for other malignancies.

The use of female sex hormones in controling cancer of the prostate was started more than 13 years ago. These products do not cure but hold the disease in abeyance while the individual lives his normal life expectancy. They also alleviate symptoms and many sufferers improve so much they are able to resume normal activity.

The cause of prostatic cancer is not known and, although it is prone to develop after middle life, most victims are between the ages of 60 and 80. The disease is treacherous in that it seldom produces characteristic symptoms; the majority are the type that occur in various disturbance of the kidney and bladder. They include bladder obstruction and getting up once or twice a night for urinary relief.

Some seek medical care because of weight loss, frequency of urination, and urgency. Now and then the initial manifestations stem from spread of the cancer to liver or bones and the victim complains of sciatica, backache, or marked weakness.

The prostate, located in the pelvis, is easy to examine. The physician becomes suspicious when a soft, smooth gland becomes firm, irregular, and nodular. Statistics show that when these changes occur, there is a 90 per cent chance that a malignancy exists. The test is so simple, every man over 40 should submit to an annual rectal examination, particularly when there are bladder symptoms.

Other tests include a microscopic study of the prostatic secretions or of pieces of tissue from the gland (biopsy). The latter is the most conclusive; the tissue is removed via the hollow cystoscope. Acid serum phosphatase determinations also are rather specific for prostatic malignancy. This is one of the few blood tests that is of value in cancer; the reading is high when the disease is active and becomes normal after the condition is brought under control.

Female sex hormones are combined, in some instances, with surgery, X-ray, or radium. Castration is recommended for more severe cases because this procedure enhance the value of hormone therapy. This combination offers the longest survival rate.

TOMORROW: Sunglass problems.

PAINFUL HEEL

J. W. writes: What treatment is necessary for an Achilles' heel?

REPLY

The Achilles tendon was named after the Greek warrior, whose mother dipped him into the River Styx when he was an infant; this made his body invulnerable except the heel by which she held him. This tendon is subject to swelling and pain (tenosynovitis); rest and heat offer relief. Rupture of the tendon calls for strapping, heat, and rest.

THYROID LACK

W. J. writes: What is a cretin?

REPLY

A child who is born with an imperfectly developed thyroid gland. Unless thyroid extract is started early and continued throughout life, the youngster may be dwarfed and mentally retarded. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on cretinism.

SPRING TONIC

E. S. writes: Is sassafras tea good for a person in the spring of the year?

REPLY

It ranks with sulphur, molasses, and cream of tartar as a spring tonic. The body is self-cleansing and is not in need of a special job once a year.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

At a literary cocktail party in New York, General Omar Bradley told how his two grandfathers fought on opposite sides in the Civil War. A writer who overheard him chimed in with: "The same is true of my grandfathers. They were cavalry officers." "Both of my grandfathers," said the general, "were foot-privates."

Aboard the S. S. Exochorda, of the American Export Lines, Jim Birmingham spotted this sign outside the office of the purser: "Closed for one hour while members of the staff are making advances to the crew."

Valdes Stops Tom Jackson

Pounds Out Win In Second Round

NEW YORK, July 14 (AP)—Nino Valdes, the Cuban giant, turned Hurricane Tommy Jackson into a harmless zephyr tonight, stopping the 22-year-old Negro from New York's Rockaway Beach in 2:35 of the second round at Madison Square Garden to move toward a title shot at heavyweight champ Rocky Marciano.

Valdes weighed 204, Jackson 190½.

Valdes, an 11 to 5 underdog, tamed the Hurricane with savage body blows, rocked him with solid right hand punches to the jaw and floored him three times for an automatic TKO. Many in the crowd jammed around ringside claimed the third knockdown actually was a push but Referee Al Berl ruled a knockdown.

It was no contest for the bewildered Jackson, who had no steam and showed only one brief flash of his famed Hurricane style. He was completely overwhelmed by the 6-foot-3 Cuban who is ranked No. 2 among the heavyweight contenders.

Valdes was in charge throughout the first round and quickly slowed down the Hurricane's bouncing drive at the start of the second.

In the bottom of the last inning Denny Knippenberg singled to open the Lions final chance. After Mullaney fanned Garlitz walked. Stephens struck out but Lydinger strolled to fill the bases with two out.

"Boomer" Mulligan hit a ground ball to Vanetta, the Jaycees second baseman, who fielded the ball but threw wild past first with the tying and winning runs scoring.

Mrs. Bibby Loses In Extra Hole Match In Mason-Dixon

Jane Nelson Takes Championship Flight In Overtime Playoff

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., July 14 (AP)—Jane Nelson of Indianapolis, Ind., off to a slow start, shot a spectacular birdie 4 on the 55th hole today to take a three-way sudden death playoff and win the Mason-Dixon Women's Amateur Golf Tournament.

Miss Nelson, Mary Pat Janssen of Charlottesville, Va., and Mrs. John Capers of Merion, Pa., finished the final 18 in the scorching sun, deadlocked with identical 54-hole totals of 230.

Miss Janssen, the 1953 Middle-Atlantic champion who had led the first two rounds, appeared to have the invitational tournament in the bag as she easily put her iron shot off the tee on the 18th green. Two putts would have given her a par 3 on the short 140-yard hole.

Bogied Last Hole

But she four putted for a five and a 8-over-par 81 for the final, and, which combined with an opening round par 73 and yesterday's 76, gave her 230 for the regulation distance.

Miss Nelson, behind four strokes, birdied the 17th and 18th for a 77 and a three-day total of 80-73-77—230.

Mrs. Capers, sandwiched between Miss Janssen and Miss Nelson in second place shot a 79 to make it a three-way tie for first place.

The sudden death playoff began on the Old White course's treacherous first hole, a long 430-yard, par 5, described by home pro Sam Snead as one of the toughest in the country.

Miss Nelson had a tremendous drive and reached the green on her second shot. She was down in two for a birdie 4 as Miss Janssen's second shot went into the trap. She was short coming out and took two putts for a 5. Mrs. Capers, in the same trap on her second shot was over the green on her third, short on her fourth and two putted for a 6.

It was a torrid finish to a torrid day as the temperature climbed into the high 90's for the tourney windup.

Mrs. Glick Is Fourth

Behind Mrs. Capers, in fourth was Mrs. Maurice Glick of Baltimore with 78-77-80—235. Marjorie McNeely of Evansville, Ind., was fifth with 81-78-79—238.

Others in the championship flight were Mrs. Harold Stone of Ware Shoals, N. C., 81-88-85—254, and Mrs. W. I. Boreman of Parkersburg, W. Va., 83-88-86—257.

There was also a sudden death playoff to determine the first flight winner after Mrs. William Bibby of Cumberland, Md., and Mrs. Theodore Hawes of Summit, N. J., finished with 260's.

Harris Blanks Roofers, Sport Shoppe Loses

Gehauf's Amoco, behind the four-hit pitching of George Harris, and some steady fielding, blanked Schute's Roofers, 5-0, yesterday at Stitcher Field and dumped the Roofers from first place in the City Softball League.

The Amvets, defeating the Sport Shoppe team, 6-3, for Jack Stotler's 14th win at Allegany, climbed into first place a half-game ahead of the Roofers.

The Amocomen put the game away in the first inning when they pushed across two counters. Schute's got only two men as far as second base against Harris.

The Amvets scored all their runs in the fifth inning to break up a scoreless duel between Stotler and Eversole. Following Collins' walk McGreevy blasted a homerun, Fradiska strolled, Ingram doubled, Sell walked, Helmstetter brought home a run with a sacrifice fly and singles by Cunningham and Stotler plated the final two tallies.

In addition to his homerun McGreevy collected a single to pace the Amvets attack. The Sports Shoppe tallied three times in the sixth when Hughes blasted a three-run homer. The scores:

Plan To Honor D'Alesandro

Helped Get Orioles Baltimore Franchise

BALTIMORE, July 14 (AP)—Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro Jr. is to be honored belatedly July 30 for being the big wheel in moving the baseball franchise of the St. Louis Browns to Baltimore.

The mayor went into a hospital with a breakdown on March 10 and didn't get out until Monday so he hasn't been to a game by the Orioles in the new stadium which he also helped have built.

The selection of July 30 as the mayor's "night" fittingly brings in the New York Yankees as the Oriole opponent.

It was Del Webb, co-owner of the Yankees, who held up the transfer for two days to Baltimore while trying to get it for the West Coast.

After Baltimore won out in two votes and three days in New York last September, Mayor D'Alesandro stalked up to Webb and said:

"Mr. Webb, I promise you when the Yankees come to Baltimore we'll have a record crowd out to see them."

The Yankees have drawn the biggest crowd, 46,796 on May 15, to Baltimore so far this season without the presence of Mayor D'Alesandro.

McElwee Selects Two More Players For North Squad

ROMNEY, W. Va., July 14 (AP)—Two more backfield men, both from small schools, were added to the North roster today for the 21st annual North-South Football Game scheduled Aug. 14 in Charleston.

North Coach Dick McElwee of Romney selected halfback Ward (Pappy) Jackson, a 160-pounder from Marlinton, and Delton Mullenax, 170-pound fullback from Parsons, to play in the game of high school stars next month.

McElwee has picked all but two of the 25 players permitted for the game, sponsored by 20 daily newspapers in West Virginia.

Major Leagues Attendance Is Hiked 834,028

Braves Show Way, Baltimore Way Up

NEW YORK, July 14 (AP)—Attendance at the major league ball parks has been on the upswing this season compared to turnstile figures a year ago.

A mid-season survey showed today that 11 of the 16 major league teams are ahead of 1954 attendance and combined they show an increase of 834,028 paid admissions over last season. Figures include games through last Sunday.

The American League has drawn 4,368,584 and 4,248,197 have seen the National Leaguers for a grand total of 8,616,781. The same number of home dates attracted 7,782,753 last season.

The shifting of the St. Louis franchise to Baltimore has proved beneficial to American League attendance. The Orioles already have played to 661,746 to exceed the final St. Louis total for 1953. Baltimore shows a jump of 452,696 over the corresponding Brownie figures of a year ago.

American League clubs are 701,456 customers ahead of last season with both the Detroit Tigers and Chicago White Sox showing substantial boosts. The Tigers have attracted a turnout of 163,304 more than their 1953 figure, while the White Sox are up 105,178. Chicago also has the most paid admissions in the league, 704,444.

Other teams in the junior circuit with increases are Boston (47,662), Cleveland (15,967) and Philadelphia (12,307).

In the National League the first place New York Giants show the biggest rise—a gain of 151,886 over last year. The Giants, who have attracted 670,273 fans for 39 home dates, drew only 811,518 for the 1953 season.

Milwaukee, picking up where it left off last season after setting an all-time National League attendance mark of 1,826,397 has boosted its turnstile take by 10,128 paid admissions. The Braves, in 36 home dates, already have played host to 965,006 fans—most in the majors.

All told, the National League boasts a gain of 132,842 over a year ago. Other senior circuit clubs ahead of their 1953 attendance pace are St. Louis (73,839), Chicago (49,646) and Cincinnati (48,341).

The five big league clubs showing decreases over last season are the Philadelphia Phillies (91,110), Pittsburgh Pirates (71,387), New York Yankees (64,839), Brooklyn Dodgers (38,861) and Washington Senators (30,729).

Turley Has Wrist Sprain, Doubtful He'll Face Yanks

BALTIMORE, July 14 (AP) — Bob Turley sprained his pitching wrist as well as cutting his eye before yesterday's All-Star game and he is a doubtful starter for the Baltimore Orioles in a three-game series starting tomorrow against the New York Yankees. Don Larsen is scheduled to go to the mound instead.

Turley was hurt when he ran into a fence while catching a fly ball before the game in Cleveland. Three stitches closed the cut on his right eyelid.

The big righthander who leads the American league in strikeouts reported later he also had sprained his wrist.

"I don't know whether I'll be able to pitch in New York or not," he said.

Turley has beaten the Yanks once and lost to them twice.

Moose Tossers Down Elks, 9-3

Jim Roby Chalks Up Sixth Victory

The Loyal Order of Moose climbed within one game of first place by lacing the Elks yesterday, 9-3, at Fort Hill in a Rocking Chair Softball League encounter.

The game was a playoff of a previously postponed contest and pulled the Moose a half-game closer to the league-leading Outdoor Club.

Seven big runs in the first inning was the cushion Jim Roby used to pitch his sixth mound triumph as his mates backed him with a 13-hit attack.

Roby blasted a homerun and a double to lead the Moose tossers at the plate also. George Geatz chipped in with a pair of singles for the winners.

Pooch Orndorff smacked out a two-bagger and a single and Bob Pence collected two one-base knocks for the Elks who lost their sixth game.

Today the Outdoor Club (11-4) will play the Elks (8-6) at Stitcher Field while the second-place Moose Club (10-5) meets the last-place Knights of Coumbus (0-15) at Campobello. Yesterday's score:

Tourney Heads Yell Foul When Middlecoff Quits

$25,000 Manakiki Open Begins Today

CLEVELAND, July 14 (AP)—Angry tournament officials, crying "temperamental" and "a lousy trick," let loose a bitter blast today against former National open champion Cary Middlecoff for suddenly withdrawing from the $25,000 Manakiki Open.

"It's a lousy trick," said tournament co-chairman Bob Shave. "He gave no excuse whatsoever. He didn't even say anything to me. It stinks."

Middlecoff, winner of the tournament last year, arrived Monday night. He checked in with officials at the Manakiki Country Club yesterday and then suddenly packed his bags and left, said Shave.

Play opens tomorrow and most of the nation's top golfers, including 1954 National Open champion Ed Furgol, will participate.

Middlecoff, leading 1954 money winner so far, could not be reached for comment. He was believed enroute to St. Paul, scene of the annual PGA tournament next week.

"Middlecoff has a reputation for being temperamental and I think he's getting even worse," Shave protested. "He knew we had advertised that he would play."

He said he was sure nothing involving the playing conditions provoked Middlecoff, but it might have resulted from a motel room mixup.

"Middlecoff was expected Tuesday and we had a room reserved for him," the co-chairman said. "But he came in Monday and we had to go out and get him a room. I thought it satisfied him, though."

A total of 150 are entered for the 72-hole four-day test over the 6,651-yard, par 72 course.

British Golfers Win Lord Derby Trophy

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, July 14 (AP)—British veteran golfers took the Lord Derby trophy away from the U.S. today by chalking up eight points in the singles matches to four for the invaders.

At the end of the two days play, the British had 30 points, the U.S. 18½ and Canada 5½. It was the seventh triumph for the British since the competition was started in 1927. The U.S. has won five times, including a year ago in Bermuda. Canada never has won.

In today's play the British defeated Canada 10½—1½, and the U.S. team won from the Canadians 8-4. The Britons also dominated yesterday's foursome matches.

All-Star Success May Spark Cleveland In Pennant Drive

Majors To Return To Action Today

CLEVELAND, July 14 (AP)—Will the feats of sore-fingered Al Rosen, Bobby Avila and Larry Doby in the All-Star game inspire confidence that will make the Cleveland Indians a big winner?

That was one of the questions that arose today as the major league baseball clubs prepared to resume championship play after a mid-season lull interrupted by a rhubarb over re-scheduling a postponed game and by various clinical reports on injured players.

The Indians in recent years have been tabbed as a club likely to fold when the pennant pressure becomes heavy. And the loss of four straight games last weekend to the third-place White Sox looked suspiciously like the beginning of a collapse.

But Cleveland's All-Star representatives were anything but lethargic athletes who looked ready to give up. Rosen, who didn't want to play because of a painfully injured finger, got his dander up when he fanned his first time at bat and finished as the dominant figure in the game. He accounted for five runs, nearly half the American League total. Avila cracked three hits and Doby opened the winning rally with a game-tying pinch homer.

All this may only indicate all the Indians need to win the American League pennant is to go against National League pitching all the time. Or it may mean they've developed the spark that will carry them right on to victory. The next 10 days should show.

The Indians resume action tomorrow night against the tottering Athletics in Philadelphia with only a half-game margin over the five-time champion Yankees. They'll make the full swing around the eastern sector, winding up with three games against the Yanks in Nee York before returning home.

The Yanks will be at home against Baltimore tomorrow night; Chicago will play at Washington and Detroit will be at Boston for a day-night doubleheader.

Sid Luckman of the Chicago Bears completed seven touchdown passes in a 1943 game against the Giants for a National Football League record.

Ty Cobb created or tied more major league records than any player. He led American League batters 12 times.

(Substituting for vacationing Louella Parsons)

HOLLYWOOD, July 14 (INS) — Hal Wallis, just back from Sonoma, California, and beaming from ear to ear because he has just acquired a prize he has long sought — the rights to the life story of General "Hap" Arnold.

"Don't press me about the star," said Wallis, "I haven't any idea who will play Arnold."

The most surprised actor of the season is Broderick Crawford whose agent wigwagged him on his boat at Catalina with word that he is to play Dr. Aarons in "Not as a Stranger."

"Funny part is," laughed Brod, "I read the book, loved it, but didn't see any part for myself. I'm grateful to Stanley Kramer that he does see me as the doctor who first befriends the young medical student." (Bob Mitchum).

With the signing of Crawford, Kramer has four Academy Award winners in his line-up; Olivia De Havilland, Gloria Grahame, Frank Sinatra and of course, Brod.

Is Montgomery Clift allergic to movies? After sitting out his two months vacation in Maine, the diffident actor takes off for Norway—no less — to direct two plays for the National Theatre celebrating the 126th anniversary of the birth of Hendrik Ibsen.

Clift, apparently, is also developing an allergy toward acting as he telephoned his agents in Hollywood that the Ibsen deal in September calls merely for his directing talents.

The two plays he'll do are "Little Eyolf" and "The Master Builder." He says he's honored because the last time an outsider was invited to participate in the festival was 1927 when the late Max Rhinehardt directed three plays.

The floor lights were dimming and the stage lights going up on the Ramona Room at the Last Frontier in Las Vegas for the final show of Patty Andrews when a woman slipped in unnoticed and took her place at one of the back tables.

It was La Verne Andrews, of the feudin' Andrews sisters, who had come to see the act of the sister who had broken up one of the most popular singing trios in popular singing trios in popular music history.

My spy reports that tears ran down La Verne's face as she watched—but she was the first to lead the applause. When the show was over she slipped out as quietly as she had appeared. And she didn't go backstage.

Dale Robertson, who took a suspension for walking out on "White Feather," is being replaced by that good actor, John Lund. Now that Lund is cast, Leonard Goldstein can pack up his company headed by Robert Wagner and Debra Paget and take off for Texas for three weeks of location work.

• Hollywood in shorts:

The only gal who has Marlon Brando's private 'phone number is cute Charlotte Austin, Gene's daughter.

If Gregory Peck intends to spend so much time in Hollywood—how come he's just bought a house in France?

Rosemary Clooney hopes it will be a boy and Jose Ferrer is pulling for a girl.

Just before Esther Williams took off for Catalina for "Jupiter's Darling" the doctor told her all three of the kids had the mumps!

Janet Leigh is off to join Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis in Atlantic City for the Steel Pier premiere of "Living It Up" July 23.

Charlie O'Curran is so busy staging Mae West's act for the Sahara in Las Vegas it's helping him douse his torch for Betty Hutton.

Best kept secret in Hollywood is Clark Gable's contract with 20th—so fabulous other actors would tear their hair out if they knew the terms.

They really sat up at Ciro's and the Mocambo when Jon Hall and Frances Langford walked in holding hands. But they say no change in their divorce plans.

Jimmy McHugh's new song, "Montmartre," written with Harold Adamson and Pierre Le Mure, has been bought by Allied Artists as the theme song for "Legionnaires." This is Jimmy's second current movie theme. His "I Can't Believe That You're in Love With Me" is the hit of "Caine Mutiny."

That's all.

Make sure that every item in your wardrobe is ready to wear when you want to wear it.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Certainly it would be more fascinating to talk fashion than to concentrate on the practicalities of your wardrobe. But you could buy a fashionable new dress every week and still not be attractively garbed if your clothing is not ready to be worn, or if you can't match a dress with appropriate accessories at the time you want to wear it.

To avoid finding yourself in these circumstances, careful planning is essential. So is a daily grooming routine for your various items of apparel.

Brush your coat, suit, or dress when you take it off, and inspect it for ripped seams, a sagging hemline, or a missing button. Make repairs promptly, so your garment will be ready for its next wearing. A dress should be placed on a padded hanger, and zippered or buttoned to keep its shape. For skirts, you need skirt hangers, and for all clothing—even the things you wear regularly—garment bags are a fine idea. If one of your dresses needs cleaning, keep it separate from your other clothing, and take it to the dry cleaner as soon as possible.

Shoes should be brushed or polished, and checked for thinning soles or run-over heels. Worn heels detract from your well-groomed look, and can even spoil your walk!

Put your hats away in boxes, bedded in tissue, one to a box. Cramming two or three hats into a single box is sure to crumple flowers and crease veils.

Empty your handbag and shake out the odds and ends that increase clutter. Brushing or polishing is in order for bags, just as for shoes, and it's a wise practice to insert tissue into a handbag that you put away in a drawer.

Wash your gloves or clean them, as the fabric demands, so they'll look fresh enough to wear—not just carry—a day or two later. Rips in a glove's seams are as inexcusable as a split seam in your dress, so have a mending kit handy.

Undergarments should be laundered nightly, to protect the fabric as well as to provide a fresh supply. Experts say that laundering actually lengthens the life of a girdle or brassiere. You needn't hold back on the sudsings.

Now And Then

Besides daily care, give your wardrobe the benefits of an occasional thorough inspection. Discard clothes that are simply taking up space; you won't miss the dress you haven't worn for a year. Replace fraying belts and wilted ribbons; toss away fading gloves and bracelets with missing stones. Make room for the new accessories you'll buy after studying fashion columns to decide which goes with what, and which is "just right" for your wardrobe.

GRIN AND BEAR IT — By Lichty

"Better leave the place to the right of the Senator empty, dear! . . . He usually sweeps the country free of Communists with that arm!"

On The Line

by Bob Considine

NEW YORK (INS)—New York cab drivers are, by and large, the best in the world. But one of them shot through a red light at 40 or 50 M.P.H. the other day. The cab I was in, driven by a man named Seymour Stern, stopped on a dime, throwing us both forward. But the stop enabled the speeding cab to miss us by inches.

"A bum like that could give you heart trouble," observed Mr. Stern, and when my own ticker slowed down enough, I agreed.

By coincidence, there was waiting for me at the office an impressive brochure on research progress in heart diseases, as reported by the National Heart Institute. The findings are impressive. To wit:

Hypertensive heart disease (high blood pressure) affects 4,500,000 Americans, causes more than 13 per cent of the 775,000 deaths each year from heart troubles. Some 165,000 young men were rejected from military service during World War II because of hypertension. That's the problem. As for the progress:

A substance from the root of the Indian snakewood plant, rauwolfia serpentinia, manufactured under various trade names, has been found to be effective in reducing high blood pressure without distressing side effects often caused by other drugs.

Also, rhododendron leaves have yielded a new compound which lowers blood pressure. High blood pressure in elderly victims may be relieved by a new synthetic drug, I-hydrazinophthalazine, the creation of Dr. Nicholas S. Assali, University of Cincinnati College of Medicine.

The big killer, arteriosclerotic heart disease, causes more than half of all deaths from heart diseases, causes nine out of 10 heart attacks and killed more Americans last year than any other single disease (about 350,000.) The progress:

Drs. C. B. Anfinsen, R. K. Brown, Edwin Boyle, and J. H. Bragdon, of the National Heart Institute, Bethesda, Md., have come up with a chemical "clearing factor" system which converts to normal forms the abnormal giant molecules commonly found in the blood of persons with arteriosclerosis. Their drug, Heparin, looks more useful than before.

Dr. Henry Lax, Columbia, has produced an instrument capable of recording arteriosclerosis. Blood thinning drugs of several types are credited with saving the lives of at least 100,000 heart cases.

Rheumatic heart disease is a leading killer and crippler of the young. Dr. Charles H. Rammelkamp, Cleveland, states: "The possibility of heart-damaging rheumatic fever can be prevented by a single shot of a new long-lasting form of penicillin given whenever a child has a strep sore throat." Cortisone, ACTH, and improved diets have been brought to bear in this field, as well as surgery on the mitral valve.

Surgery has made tremendous strides in combatting congenital heart disease, which kills 9,000 a year. Surgeons can now place fingers inside the heart and push excess tissue together to seal holes in the heart wall, or place plastic plugs therein. Artificial heart machines have "taken over" during operations for as long as an hour and 20 minutes.

As for heart failure, the end result of all the forms, it is being combatted by a newly-developed synthetic resin, "Atomic cocktails" tend to reduce the speed of abnormal death-bringing heart beats. An "artificial kidney" has been developed for use in this extremity.

We know a little more about the body's motor every day. Heart spasms during surgery can be prevented by administering procaine amide beforehand. Rapidal, an intravenous anesthetic, promises to make surgery safer for elderly persons.

It has been found that hard work does not cause heart attacks, and that new ways to measure heart damage and fit the patient to the job—a most important project of the National Heart Institute—are proving profitable to employer and employe alike.

Heart research, and research in general, that pays better than a good longshot. It is estimated that in the past ten years the lives of more than 1,000,000 persons who would normally have died have been saved by research and development. They pay about 300 million dollars in federal income taxes annually!

It is estimated that a person perspires an average of about one and one-half pints every day.

Daily Bridge Lesson — by Barclay

YOU SHOULD NOT PASS

THERE are two diametrically opposed situations in which you should take out your partner's double of the opponents' suit bid. One is that in which it appears your side will get a bad result from leaving it in. The other is that in which you can expect to get a fine result by taking it out. The earmarks of the two lineups are quite similar—shortage in the suit doubled and goodly length and/or—as the lawyers would say—strength in some other suit or suits. Often, when you find one of these reasons, the other is present too.

	♠ 10 6 3 ♥ K J 9 4 ♦ A K 8 3 ♣ J 5
♠ A ♥ A Q 10 7 5 3 ♦ 7 6 4 2 ♣ 10 3	N W E S	♠ 9 7 4 2 ♥ 8 6 2 ♦ 9 ♣ A 9 7 6 4
	♠ K Q J 8 5 ♥ None ♦ Q J 10 5 ♣ K Q 8 2

(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	2 ♥	Dbl.	Pass
3 ♦	Pass	4 ♠	Pass
4 ♠

That bidding on this deal was okeh except for the simple detail that it was not done. Indeed the actual calling ended with passes of the doubled 2-Hearts, South's pass being a monstrosity. North hated to lead away from his trump honors, and as a consequence West was able to use all three of dummy's trumps for ruffing diamonds. In the end that enabled the declarer to score an extra trick above his contract, giving him an almost unbelievably good score.

South's hand was just about the ideal example of one with which a low business double should be taken out. Without a solitary card in the suit doubled, and biddable length everywhere else, it was a virtual certainty he could find some kind of fit with his partner's hand.

A 4-Spade contract would have been impregnable against any defense. The most effective lead would have been a diamond, clearing out East's singleton. In a moment West would have the lead again with his spade A, whereupon he could lead a second diamond to give East a ruff. But the only other trick available to the defenders would have been with East's club A, which would be only the third trick for his side.

* * *

Tomorrow's Problem

	♠ 9 5 4 2 ♥ A Q 7 2 ♦ 10 6 4 ♣ Q 6
♠ A Q 6 ♥ K J 10 5 3 ♦ 9 2 ♣ J 10 4	N W E S	♠ 7 3 ♥ 9 4 ♦ A Q 7 5 3 ♣ 9 8 3 2
	♠ K J 10 8 ♥ 8 6 ♦ K J 8 ♣ A K 7 5

(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

If South bids 1-Club, West 1-Heart, East 2-Diamonds, South 2-Spades, North 3-Spades and South 4-Spades, how can the defenders spot the killing plan?

Law Offices Of Gunter And Geppert

Cumberland, Maryland

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

In the Circuit Court for Allegany Co., Md., No. 23,697 Equity, William L. Lindner and Margaret Lindner, his wife, and Josephine Rice, widow, Vs. Catherine G. Shuck and Frank Shuck, her husband, of Bedford, Penna., and Gretchen L. Fletcher, widow, of Bedford, Penna.

The object and purpose of this suit is to obtain a decree in the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, appointing a Trustee to sell the real estate located in Cumberland, Allegany County, Maryland, owned as tenants in common by William L. Lindner, Josephine Rice, Catherine G. Shuck and Gretchen L. Fletcher; all of the respondents hereto being non-residents of the State of Maryland and residents of the State of Pennsylvania.

The Bill states that by deed dated August 29, 1933, and recorded in Liber 170, folio 13, one of the Land Records of Allegany County, Maryland, Charles G. Watson and William A. Gunter, Trustees, conveyed to William L. Lindner, Mary A. Lindner, Josephine Rice, Gretchen L. Fletcher and Catherine G. Shuck two parcels of real estate located near Cumberland on the Northern side of the Baltimore Turnpike Road leading from Cumberland to Baltimore.

That the said Mary A. Lindner died seized and possessed of an undivided one-fifth interest therein, intestate, on December 11, 1944, and that some of the heirs at law of the said Mary A. Lindner, deceased, namely, Claude W. Lindner, Hilda M. Townsend, Joeadd T. Lindner and Leona Thielen, children of her deceased brother, Thomas Lindner, conveyed their undivided interest in said properties to William L. Lindner by deed dated November 21, 1945, and recorded in Liber 210, folio 678, one of the Land Records aforesaid Certified copies of both of the aforesaid deeds being filed with the Bill of Complaint as part thereof.

The Bill further states that the interests of the different parties to this suit in said parcels of real estate are by virtue of the aforegoing deeds as follows: William L. Lindner—7/25; Josephine Rice—6/25; Catherine G. Shuck—6/25; and Gertrude L. Fletcher—6/25.

The Bill further states that the properties are not susceptible of partition without material loss and injury to the parties entitled to interests therein; and that, in order to make division of said interests, it will be necessary to have the real estate sold and the proceeds divided amongst the parties according to their several interests.

The Bill then prays that a decree be passed for the sale of the real estate and a division of the proceeds among those entitled thereto.

It is thereupon this 14th day of July, 1954, by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, in Equity, ordered that notice be given Catherine G. Shuck and Frank Shuck, her husband, and Gretchen L. Fletcher, widow, all non-residents of the State of Maryland, by causing a copy of this order to be published once a week for at least four successive weeks on or before the 16th day of August, 1954, in some newspaper published in Allegany County, warning them and each of them to be and appear in this Court on or before the 2nd day of September, 1954, and answer the premises and abide by and perform such decree as the Court may deem proper.

Market Climbs With Rails Forming Basis For Rise

NEW YORK, July 14 (AP) — The Stock Market turned ahead again today after two sessions of cautious consolidation.

Railroads formed the base for the rise, and there was plenty of help from key stocks in major divisions.

Textiles came to life with a good advance. The center of interest was Goodall-Sanford. Burlington Mills made an offer to buy 380,000 shares of Goodall common at $20. Goodall opened on 7,000 shares up 2⅛, soon traded another block up 4⅜, and continued around its best to a close of 17¼ up 3⅞.

Pacific Mills, which enjoyed a sharp rise when Burlington offered $50 a share for the common, fell 5½ yesterday and 2⅜ today to close at 36⅝. Burlington announced it had bought 292,500 shares of Pacific on tenders.

The cement stocks, which were sharply higher yesterday on news of a proposed enormous federal highway building program, were down today. Alpha Portland Cement lost ¾, Lehigh Portland Cement fell 1⅜ and Lonestar Cement was down ¾.

Higher with the railroads were the steels, motors, airlines, movie issues, radio-televisions, and utilities. The oils were neglected, rubbers were down, metals were mixed, and tobaccos were mixed.

American Radiator was the day's most active issue unchanged at 18¼ on 50,400 shares including a block of 36,200 shares at 18. Goodall-Sanford was second up 3⅞ at 17¼ on 40,700 shares, and then came Pan American World Airways up ⅝ at 13¾. General Electric off ¼ at 45. Curtiss-Wright unchanged at 11, and Burlington Mills up ¼ at 14¾.

Boiler At Court House In Need Of Repair

The Hartford Steam Boiler Inspection and Insurance Company recommended the Allegany County Board of Commissioners do some minor repairs on the boiler in the Court House.

The report, of the inspection was made by S. E. White, chief inspector, who said he found corrosion of the internal surfaces had taken place. It was not of a serious nature.

The furnace lining was found in need of attention and the report suggested that repairs be made.

Fierce Electrical Storm Lashes Area

Record Downpour Drenches City; Damage Is Heavy

Lightning Strikes Several Homes As Subways, Cellars Are Flooded

Cumberland and the tri-state area were at the mercy of the elements late last night and early today in one of the worst thunderstorms and lashing rains in many years. No one had been reported injured by 2:30 a. m.

In some respects the storm resembled the heavy rain and windstorm that struck the area June 26. Winds were not so severe, but lightning flashed continuously and a record amount of rain fell.

Last night's storm, like the earlier one, was preceded by extremely high temperatures. The mercury hit 104 in Cumberland yesterday, making the city the hottest spot in Maryland.

Firemen, police and utility company workers were swamped with phone calls as the storm roared into the city.

Streams were high, but there seemed no immediate danger of a major flood.

Power lines were down and sections of the city were plunged into darkness. The downpour or rain made Baltimore Street look like a small river as curb-high water covered the street.

Operations at the Times-News ceased about 11:50 p.m. when the plant was plunged into darkness and machinery stopped. About one and a half hours later power was restored and operations resumed.

Early reports from firemen showed that their lines were kept busy with calls coming in that live wires were down in various sections of the city.

Trees were reported down in various sections of the city and power was cut off, sending utility crews to the scene in an effort to restore operations.

Telephone lines were jammed and Central office was unable to handle the tremendous number of calls being placed.

The big bolt apparently hit Cumberland about 11:50 p. m., and then came the terrific onslaught of heavy sheets of rain and continued lightning, thunder and hail.

Police were called into action to direct the snarled traffic. Many homes were flooded, and full extent of damages was undetermined early this morning.

The Hilltop Drive section felt the force of the high winds, and at least one automobile was damaged considerably by a falling tree.

Police said a 4,400-volt wire was down at Bedford and Dreyer Avenue, and East Side firemen went to the scene.

Rainfall Sets Record

A record 3.47 inches of rain fell in less than three hours, according to Robert R. Golden, weather observer at Constitution Park.

It was the hardest storm of this section recalled by the veteran weatherman, who stated the most rain to hit the area previously was about two inches in 12 hours several years ago.

The first half-hour after the storm struck seemed to be the peak of the furious onslaught. Over two inches of rain hit the battered community in that first 30 minutes.

The park was particularly battered by the hard-driving rain and hail, with several trees being torn down, one especially large one crashing down on the road at the large water tower in the center of the park area.

The mercury dropped swiftly from a reading of 92 degrees just before 11 p. m. to 68 degrees when the storm struck in all its fury 50 minutes later. Gusts of wind reached 40 miles an hour during the height of the electrical storm.

The Constitution Park pool was littered with debris and leaves which will probably necessitate the closing of the pool. Golden said the entire park area was severely damaged by the storm.

Streams Rise Slowly

At Luke, the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company reported lightning struck and knocked out two huge transformers at its plant there.

The Potomac River, however seemed to be rising very slowly despite the ferocity of the storm. At Luke the river gauge indicated the water was up about 1½ inches, while at the Potomac Edison river plant in Cumberland the water was up .4 of a foot. Wills Creek, however, was rising more rapidly.

The fierce storm had firemen on the run with four calls to different points in a matter of minutes.

At West Side the subway under the railroad on Greene Street was flooded, with water rising to a level with the porch of the West Side Fire Station.

One automobile attempting to pass the viaduct was stranded in the middle of the street when the water rose above the level of the door windows. The driver clambered out the window to the roof of his auto until rescuers could tow the car to safety.

Pair Enjoined From Cutting Trees In LaVale

Judge Henderson Issues Injunction

An injunction prohibiting the cutting of any more trees whatever on the LaVale property of Carl A. Stotlemyer and Adele Stotlemyer, his wife, was issued yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court by Associate Judge George Henderson.

The restraining action was direct against B. N. Hill and Eston B. Heavner and their agents, particularly Robert Deremer.

In the decree which he signed yesterday, Judge Henderson observed that he had concluded after hearing testimony that the written agreement regarding sale of timber, dated November 6, 1953, does not include pulpwood.

Since the defendants admitted that all the timber which was to have been converted to lumber at the sawmill had been cut, Judge Henderson ruled, the plaintiffs are entitled to an injunction restraining the defendants from cutting any more trees whatever on the property, situated in Weires' Addition not far from the site of the new elementary school being constructed in LaVale. It is north of National Highway.

Judge Henderson ruled that the order should not be construed as preventing the defendants from processing into lumber at the sawmill trees already cut by them on the plaintiffs' property and which are more than nine inches in diameter at the butt, provided it is done and the lumber removed prior to January 1, 1955, and provided that the slabs be left on the property. He said a written opinion explaining the reasons will be filed later.

The Stotlemyers were represented by Attorney William J. Gunter and the defendants by Attorney Earl E. Manges.

A condemnation suit in which the State Roads Commission seeks some .35 acres of improved land near McCoole for improvements to State Route 135 was docketed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court.

The commission also deposited a check for $9,500 with Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Circuit Court. That represents the amount which the state agency believes it should have to pay for the property.

Many Residents In Attendance At Sample Fair

Event Will Continue Tonight At YMCA

The gymnasium of Central YMCA was a beehive of activity last night, as over 1,000 residents of the Cumberland area were in attendance at the Cumberland Rotary Club's Sample Fair, being held in conjunction with the Golden Anniversary of Rotary International for the benefit of the YMCA.

The first day of the big three-day affair, which will continue tonight and tomorrow between 6 and 9 p. m. at the Y, started off on a successful note last night. The many patrons, most of them unfamiliar with events of this nature, left the YMCA quite impressed with the quality of the samples being distributed, and with the attractiveness of the booths themselves.

H. D. Barber, chairman of community service for the Rotary Club, was enthusiastic about last night's attendance, but predicted that nearly double that figure would be on hand for tonight's activities.

Barber also noted the atmosphere of good will generated by such a project as this one, which is being held in conjunction with the policy of the international heads of Rotary during this anniversary year. Each Rotary member organization is asked to conduct a distinctive project of community service.

Twenty-four local business firms have booth entered in the fair, and among the samples being given away are popular recordings, spaghetti, milk, bread, breakfast cereals, and many others.

Lonaconing Native Praises Venezuela On Vacation Here

BY ALBERT D. DARBY
News Staff Writer

A native of Lonaconing who has been an official of a new Celanese plant in Valencia, Venezuela, since before the industry was placed in operation two years ago is winding up a brief vacation in his home town this week.

He is Robert Orr, oldest of six children of William E. Orr, who lives at 45 Douglas Avenue in Lonaconing.

Orr, who like most of the rest of his family goes by the nickname of "Scotty," has been an employe of Celanese ever since 1930, when he went to work at the Amcelle plant here. After nine years at Ancelle he was transferred to the plant at Narrows, Va. Nine more years, or until 1948, he remained in production work at the Virginia plant and then from 1948 until 1952 was assistant personnel director at Narrows.

When the call came to go to Venezuela and help set up a new plant, Orr was made production superintendent in charge of textile and spinning. He is one of only two Americans connected with the plant, which employs about 350 Venezuelans. The other citizen of the United States working for Celanese there is N. J. Folsom, who is plant manager. He also formerly was employed at Amcelle.

The advent of Celanese in Valencia was the start of a sizeable industrial development in that city of about 120,000. After Celanese Venezolano started production October 26, 1952, Firestone built a tire factory there. U. S. Royal is expected to follow suit soon. Colgate is building a production unit there and a paper company also is coming into the industrial picture at Valencia.

The city where Orr lives is about 100 miles from Caracas, the capital of Venezuela. The climate is hot the year round. On a typical day the temperature range is between 95 and 105. Yesterday in Cumberland was typical of the weather in Venezuela the year round, the Lonaconing native said.

Orr had words of praise for the city in which he now lives and the people he knows there. The city has five hospitals, one with 600 beds. There also are five clinics and Valencia has about 115 physicians. The city has many beautiful plazas, which are much like small parks. Every one of them has a bust of Simon Bolivar, the great South American liberator.

Valencia is located about 30 miles from the Caribbean Sea. The port of Cabello is there. There are many beaches along the coast and Orr and his family spend much time enjoying them. The city itself has a new modern hotel. The people are friendly and Orr stresses that they go out of their way to welcome visitors. The city has a Lions Club, just like most American cities.

Bullfighting is the major sport in Venezuela and Orr confesses that he has become quite a fanatic about it. There are bullfights every Sunday and in the two years he has been there Orr has missed only three fights. Semi-pro baseball also is popular and there is much soccer, which goes by the name of football in that South American land.

When Valencians have business in Caracas they usually fly. By air the trip takes only 32 minutes whereas the journey over a mountainous but scenic route runs for five hours. The mountain is in the Andes chain. Venezuela is a land

Ban On Water Use In Effect At Westernport

Enforcement Slated For 4-Hour Period

Westernport has placed a ban on the use of hoses for the purpose of watering gardens and lawns or washing automobiles between the hours of 4 and 8 p. m. and city officials said the ruling will be strictly enforced until further notice.

Due to the current dry spell and heavy drain on the community's water supply, city officials have been receiving complaints that residents living in the hilltop sections are without water pressure during those hours.

Mayor Okey Michael and members of the City Council met last night and discussed the situation with Zihlman Callis, Nick Lupis, and Richard Stakem, of Greene Street on Greene's Addition.

Other complaints have been received from residents living on Morrison Street on Westernport Hill. The city reservoir located on Westernport Hill normally is filled at 17 feet. However, at the present time, according to Mayor Michael, the water level has dropped to about 12½ feet.

Residents living outside the corporate limits and supplied by the community are also forbidden to use hoses during the four-hour period. Anyone violating the city ruling will have his water supply shut off entirely, Mayor Michael added.

Residents are also reminded that the use of hoses or sprinklers overnight is also to be discontinued until further notice. Automobiles may be washed with the use of a bucket.

A total of 1,305 families have been registered by the Allegany County Red Cross for surplus food distribution in August.

The registration has been conducted at the several county Red Cross branches as well as at the local Red Cross office during the past three days.

These 1,305 families, in addition to those registered and certified earlier this month by the Allegany County Welfare Board, the Salvation Army and the Associated Charities, represent those eligible to receive surplus food commodities in the August distribution.

The July distribution, for which registrations were held early in June, will begin next week, according to J. Walker Chapman, county roads supervisor who has charge of the program.

European Chafer Reported Invading Hampshire County

The European chafer, a new insect pest in West Virginia, has been reported to be established near Capon Bridge, Hampshire County, by F. Waldo Craig, state entomologist of the State Department of Agriculture.

The insect, which feeds on the roots of many important plants, was apparently transported to West Virginia in balled and burlapped evergreens shipped from the New York area.

Plans have been made, according to Craig, to extend scouting and trapping operations into surrounding areas to determine the extent of the infestation.

Plans have also been made to establish a quarantine to prohibit the movement of articles of commerce from the infested area which possibly spread the insect.
